Tatars Protest; Nabbed By Police

By HENRY KAMM

Moscow — Six Crimean Tatars, including two women, were manhandled by a crowd and arrested Friday when they displayed posters in downtown Moscow demanding the right to return to their homeland.

The protesters shouted "long live freedom" as they were dragged across the street from Mayakovsky Square toward a police station under the Tchaikovsky Hall.

Midway across the street, members of the crowd managed to cover the mouths of all six with their hands and stifle the shouts for freedom.

Conference Going On

The Tatars timed their protest to coincide with the presence of Communists from all over the world for the Soviet-sponsored party congress.

The Crimean Tatars were driven from their peninsula in the Black Sea by Stalin on charges of having collaborated with the Germans during World War II. About 100,000 are estimated to have died during the deportation or under the rigors of exile in Central Asia.

Although the charge of collaboration with the enemy was officially retracted in 1967, the authorities have refused the Tatars' request to be allowed to return to the Crimea.

At 12:14 p.m. Friday, the square around the statue of Vladimir Mayakovsky, the revolutionary poet, was empty except for a Czechoslovak army captain who was photographing the traffic at the intersection of Gorky Street and Sadovoye Koltso.

Tatars Emerge

A minute later, the six Tatars stepped to the foot of the statue, faced Gorky Street and silently unfurled four banners, calling for an end to repression of the Tatars and the freeing of former Maj. Gen. Pyotr G. Grigorenko, a defender of the Tatar cause, who was arrested last month.

Four men and a woman held the signs overhead. The second girl in her 20s, sat at their feet toying with a red rose, as though posing for a group photograph. For four minutes, the five stood motionless and without speaking.

A crowd gathered on the sidewalk, reading the signs and commenting, with hostility but restraint. The Tatar cause is no more well known to the people of Moscow than is the idea of public political protest.

After four minutes, two traffic policemen in new gray uniforms strode up and roughly ordered the Tatars to put away their banners. Behind the policemen, the onlookers had moved close, slowly, menacingly.

Then they threw themselves on the six Tatars, tearing the banners from their hands and stomping them into the ground. Clinging to each other and holding hands, the six were dragged across the square, onto the street and to the police station.

'I'm Sorry,' Captains Tell Each Other

Subic Bay Naval Base, Philippines (UPI) — The American skipper was wrapped in a towel and hardly anything else when he met the Australian captain aboard the aircraft carrier which moments before had sliced his destroyer in two.

The two navy men embraced and said, almost in unison: "I'm sorry."

This poignant detail and tales of heroism emerged Friday from eyewitness reports as the Australian aircraft carrier Melbourne put into private shipyards for repair in Singapore and the U.S. aircraft carrier Kearsarge docked here.

The Kearsarge carried 196 of the 199 Americans who survived the predawn collision last Tuesday between the Melbourne and the U.S. destroyer Frank E. Evans, a disaster which cost 74 American lives.

The skipper of the Evans, Cmdr. Albert S. McLemore, 40, of Vallejo, Calif., said Friday he was asleep in his cabin when the collision occurred at 4:12 a.m. Tuesday.

"My first thought was that either we had been torpedoed or mined," McLemore said. "The reason was because of the blast of light I saw. A collision was not apparent to me, and I did not realize it until I was on the Melbourne." He had been rescued from the sea.

'RIOT' CALL DIDN'T COME FROM POLICE

Several Lincoln police officers responding to a call for help from one of the park police motorcycle officers detailed to check a teenage dance at the Antelope Park Pavilion Friday night were surprised to discover no one in need of help.

One of the youths at the dance had picked up the microphone on the police motorcycle and said, "Send help to the dance; we have a riot."

"The only trouble we had was breaking up groups before the trouble started," one officer said.

The youth had apparently grabbed the microphone after the officer had parked his motorcycle to check on a group of youths at the dance.

"It sure was a surprise to all of us," an officer said.

Lyman Named For Seat On Library Unit

Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf has recommended that Marvin Lyman of 6811 Monterey Dr. be appointed to the Lincoln City Library Board.

The City Council is scheduled to act on the appointment at its meeting Monday.

Lyman would replace Dick Hartsock, who resigned from the board after being elected to the City Council.

City Officials Ask State Aid For State-Ordered Programs

By TOM EKVALL
Star Staff Writer

City officials from Lincoln and Omaha Friday expressed strong feelings that the state should assume some responsibility for the increased costs of city government that occur from bills passed in the legislature.

Lincoln City Councilman Ervin Peterson brought up the problem of financing city government during a state-city relationship conference held at the State Capitol.

The conference was attended by city officials from Omaha and Lincoln who met with Gov. Norbert Tiemann and many of his department heads about problems facing the cities and what the state could do to help out.

During the meeting, Councilman Peterson contended that the state government is telling the city what it must do but then does not provide the money to pay for increased costs to the city that result from state legislation.

Cop, Firemen Pay

"The state is telling us what we must pay our policemen and firemen," he cited as one example that is creating financial problems with the city.

The Lincoln councilman said he thought the state should levy a state-wide sales tax in which a percentage would be returned to the city as one way for the state to help solve the financial problems of Nebraska's cities.

Gov. Tiemann, though, said he disagreed and contended that if the city wants to generate more revenue that a sales tax should be levied by either the city or county that wants it.

"If you need more money, you levy the tax and we'll collect it and return it to you," the governor remarked.

City officials replied back that they did not go along with the idea since it would put the community with a sales tax at a disadvantage economically.

'Crisis' Argued

Greg Stuve, assistant to the Omaha City Council, put it bluntly that "we are faced with a crisis and some responsibility (for increased costs) must be shown by state government."

"If the Legislature puts the burden on us then they must also assume the responsibility."

Stuve also pointed out that cities do not now have enabling legislation to have a city sales tax.

Gov. Tiemann asked the question how other states handle the problem of city sales tax. No answer was provided.

Ed Hewitt, Omaha financial director, said that the state of Nebraska ranks 46th in the nation in the returning of funds back to its cities.

Small Cities Said Hurt
Ken Bowen, executive director of the Nebraska League of Municipalities, said the small cities are also being hurt by the increased costs shouldered onto them by the Legislature.

Bowen said water pollution control measures are a big item shouldered onto the small communities.

The executive director claimed that the legislators do not know what the bills will cost governmental units when the bills are considered.

Omaha Councilman Warren Swigart suggested that the governor veto any bill that overrides the wishes of the City Council or the vote of the people unless the bill provides for the means to pay for the increased costs.

The meeting between the state and city officials was the first of its kind held under Gov. Tiemann.

Lincoln Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf said the feeling of mayors nation-wide is that they can deal better with Washington for funds and said "there should be better liaison between city and state governments."

The meeting Friday was intended as one step in keeping the doors open to the cities in their relationship with the state.

Charge Follows Protest

. . . In Stockade

Ft. Ord, Calif. (AP) — A court-martial Friday convicted 12 soldiers of mutiny and two others of lesser offenses stemming from a sit-down protest in the San Francisco Presidio Stockade by 27 enlisted men last October.

Of the two others, one was convicted of willful disobedience and the other of failure to obey a lawful order. Eight of the original 27 previously had been convicted of mutiny. Three are fugitives and two have been sent to hospitals for observation.

The same five-man panel that convicted the 14 reconvened to decide their sentences. Sentences up to life are possible for mutiny.

Maximums

The maximum for willful disobedience is five years. For failure to obey a lawful order the maximum is six months.

The first three of eight privates previously convicted now are serving two-year terms. They were sentenced originally to 14, 15 and 16 years.

Sentences were reduced by the Army judge advocate general after protests against the penalties in the U.S. Senate.

Pvt. Larry Sales, 22, of Modesto, was convicted of failure to obey a lawful order.

Pvt. Danny Seals, 22, of Orangevale, was convicted of willful disobedience.

The 12 others, convicted of mutiny, were:

Roy A. Pulley, 19, of Clear Lake Park; Richard B. Stevens, 20, of Centerville; Richard N. Duncan, 20, of St. Helena; Buddy J. Shaw, 18, of Hayward; Patrick Wright, 20, of Santa Rosa; Michael J. Marino, 21, of Vacaville, and Stephen Rowland, 22, of San Francisco.

Richard L. Gentile 20, of Hampton, Va.; Francis Schiro, 21, of St. Petersburg, Fla.; Ernest Trefethen 18, of Getzville, N.Y.; Alan L. Ruppert, 20, of Bellingham, Wash., and Danny L. Wilkins, 20, of Central, Utah.

The trial board returned its verdict after six hours of deliberation at the conclusion of a 36-day trial extending over two months.

The October protest came three days after a stockade guard shot and killed a fleeing prisoner, Pvt. Richard Bunch, 19, of Dayton, Ohio. Army authorities ruled Bunch's death was justifiable homicide.

Temps Soar Into 100s At Several Cities

Light rain and thunder-showers occurred Friday night in much of western and northern Nebraska, offering a slight relief after a day of scorching temperatures across the state.

State highs for the day were in Burwell and Grand Island both of which reported 103 degrees Friday afternoon. Broken Bow reported a high of 102 degrees.

In Columbus and McCook temperatures rose to 101, and Kearney, North Platte, Hastings and Lincoln had highs of 100.

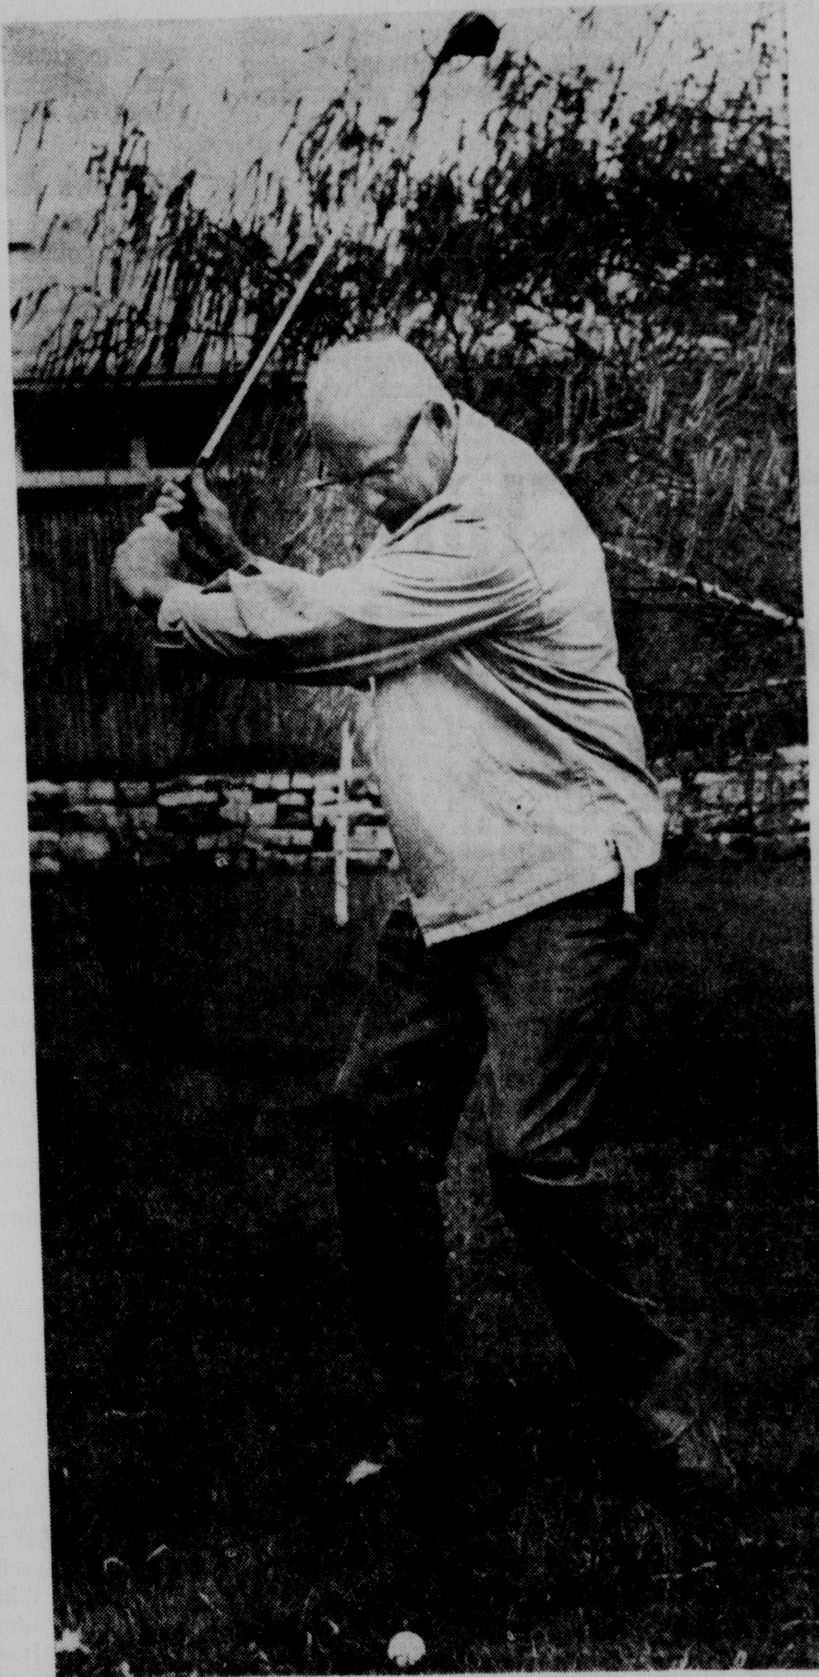

The North Platte high set a new record for the day. A 101-degree reading at the North Omaha Air Station was the warmest reading there so far this year. Last year's high reading in that city was 98 last July 21.

Temperatures over the weekend are expected to be slightly cooler in Nebraska, and the U.S. Weather Bureau forecast the chance of showers and thunderstorms for both Saturday and Sunday.

PROF. JORGENSEN . . . plays scientific game.

Science Helps NU Prof Improve His Golf Game

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

Many people are devoted to golf, and some work religiously at perfecting their game. But probably no one has studied golf as scientifically as University of Nebraska Professor Theodore Jorgensen.

With the aid of a computer, time-lapse photography, scientific and sports literature and a great deal of experimentation, Jorgensen believes he has found the secret for long and well-aimed drives: do what the professionals do!

He confirmed what he had been told by others with a year of research and calculations that resulted in a scientific paper, "On the Dynamics of the Swing of a Golf Club," which he delivered at the recent Nebraska Academy of Sciences annual meeting.

Provide Hindrance

What professionals do, according to Jorgensen, is to provide a "hindrance to the uncorking process."

As golfers start their swing with the club cocked in their hands at about a 90-degree angle with their arms, they tend to uncork their hands as the club is brought out of the back swing toward the ball.

But good golfers do not uncork their hands until the instant before the driver hits the ball, Jorgensen learned.

"They don't make it go — they let it go," he declared. The hands should be "way ahead of the clubhead" during the swing.

Goes Farther

Because of the position of the hands and the clubhead throughout the swing and the force released as the hands are uncorked, the drive goes farther with more precision, the physics professor determined scientifically.

It is impossible to delay the uncorking process too long, he added.

The silver-haired professor, who has been at NU 45 years, undertook the study last year when he began playing golf and "didn't have much success."

"I didn't understand why I was supposed to be doing certain things during the swing," he explained.

Score Improved

Jorgensen said that his scientific study of the golf swing gave him a basis for practicing and his score has improved. He did not say how much, however, emphasizing that "there is a lot more to golf besides swinging a club."

Jorgensen started his calculations with a time-lapse photo of famed golfer Bobby Jones swinging a club.

The computer helped solve the researcher's equations that "would have taken months to compute by hand."

Washington — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee gave Secretary of State William P. Rogers a cram course in the problems of nuclear disarmament Friday. After the hearing Rogers reversed a stand he took Thursday by saying that continued testing of multi-warhead missiles could affect strategic arms control talks.

Russia Warns Arab Extremists

Moscow — The Soviet Communist Party newspaper Pravda marked the second anniversary of the Arab-Israeli war by warning Arab extremists against the use of force to regain Israeli occupied lands. The article said that only through "political methods" will the territory be returned to Arab hands.

Rumanian Warns Of Failure

Moscow — President Nicolae Ceausescu of Rumania warned the delegates representing the Communist parties of 75 nations now assembled in Moscow that their conference was threatened with failure because speakers were criticizing other Communist parties. (More on Page 2.)

Mergers May Be Blocked

Washington — The Justice Department served notice that it was likely to take legal action to prevent any merger between two companies that are among the nation's top 200 manufacturing corporations. Mergers between non-manufacturing companies of comparable size are also likely to be challenged.

Youth Corps Reduced

Washington — The Labor Department has ordered a one-third reduction in enrollment in the Neighborhood Youth Corps' out-of-school program and a complete halt in hiring youths 18 years old and older. The department said this was an effort to get young dropouts to return to school. (More on Page 17.)

Mandatory Food Plan Urged

Washington — The Agriculture Department proposed that the states be required to participate in federal food programs for the poor. (More on Page 14.)

Youths Are Draft Advisers

San Clemente, Calif. — The formation of a nationwide network of youth advisory committees to help develop "a better informed and more responsive" Selective Service System was announced by President Nixon. In effect, the order would broaden a five-state "test" of such committees to include all 50 states and U.S. possessions.

Hershey Out Of Line

Washington — The United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia ruled that draft boards have no right to reclassify anti-war protesters, as draft Director Lewis B. Hershey suggested they do. (More on Page 2.)

Houston — Testimony in a federal district court in Houston indicated that the FBI continued wiretaps on Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and Black Muslim leader Elijah Muhammad after President Johnson had ordered all wiretaps halted except those which were authorized for "national security" reasons.

Namath Says He'll Retire

End Of Giveaways Ordered

Trenton, N.J. — The state's acting tax director ordered 18 gasoline companies and retail dealers to end gas station giveaway games after New Jersey's highest court upheld a decision prohibiting them. The order was intended to take effect immediately.

By HENRY KAMM
Moscow — President Nicolae Ceausescu of Rumania formally warned the conference of 75 Communist parties Friday that it was threatened with failure because speakers were criticizing the positions of other Communist parties.

The Rumanian party chief demanded the floor after the first speaker of the day, the head of the Paraguay delegation, criticized the Chinese Communists, but by the time he spoke, another Communist leader had criticized the Chinese.

The Rumanians are attending the meeting on the understanding that no interference in the affairs of any Communist party will be tolerated. For that reason, Ceausescu did not wait for his regular turn to address the meeting, but issued his warning after what he apparently thought was a violation of this understanding.

Even while the Rumanian delegation was drafting the warning delivered by Ceausescu, Wladyslaw Gomulka, first secretary of the Polish party, delivered a violent attack on China.

The open attack on China by a party chief known to reflect Soviet views faithfully led informed sources to believe that the Soviet Union had not abandoned efforts to confront the conference with a document that would go far beyond the routine anti-imperialist statements that would be acceptable to all, including the Rumanian and the more independent-minded parties, such as the Italian.

Ceausescu delivered his two-page warning following Gomulka's address. He was heard in silence, according to informed sources.

While the Rumanian leader's statement referred only to the remarks by the Paraguayan delegate, C. Maciel, competent sources declared that it covered also such remarks as those made by Gomulka.

The sources stressed that Rumania, which is neutral in the Soviet-Chinese dispute, was basing her position not on the fact that China had been criticized but was adhering to her insistence that no Communist party or country had the right to interfere in the rights of another.

other Selective Service regulations.

But a registrant can be reclassified for acts which do violate regulations, such as burning draft cards, the court said.

'War Against Protesters'

In a 3-0 decision, the court said Hershey's directive was a "declaration of war against antiwar protesters" which "springs full-grown from the head of Gen. Hershey without benefit of reference to any provision of the (Selective Service) act or regulations."

Draft Chief Hershey Declared Out Of Line

Washington (UPI) — The U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled Friday that draft Director Lewis B. Hershey had no authority to enforce his regulation ordering draft boards to take away deferments from antiwar demonstrators.

The court said Hershey's order violated the rights of free speech of draft registrants.

It said a registrant's protest activities "are not to be considered in determining his Selective Service classification" if they do not violate

Mahoney, Skarda Claim Governor Is Trying To Kill Them Politically

By United Press International

Two state senators involved in a controversy over an incident which allegedly occurred when they were stopped on the Interstate for speeding Friday said Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann is trying to kill them politically.

Sens. Eugene Mahoney and William Skarda, both of Omaha, said the governor's action really was the result of their not supporting Tiemann's attempt to keep the sales tax at 2½% last December.

A report turned in by a state patrolman said the two lawmakers threatened him and swore at him when he stopped them for speeding. Both lawmakers say the incident was made up by the patrolman and never occurred.

Order To Patrol

Tiemann issued an order Thursday to all state patrolmen to issue tickets to all state senators caught breaking the laws during the session. He specifically ordered tickets issued to Mahoney and Skarda.

Lawmakers are immune from prosecution for minor infractions during a legislative session, but may be prosecuted once the session has ended.

Mahoney and Skarda issued separate statements criticizing Tiemann's action.

"Years ago in Russia, there was a czar called 'Ivan the Terrible' who was a terrorizer in Russia," said Mahoney. "We have the same in Nebraska, 'Tiemann the terrorizer,' particularly (against) those people in the Legislature who oppose him or his high taxes."

Mahoney said Tiemann is "a poor loser — when the legislators overrode his veto, he then and there decided to pull out a report of two weeks earlier to smear two senators who will not bow to Tiemann's tax bills which call for increasing the sales and income tax."

"This has turned into a political spite revengeful incident that the governor hopes to get even with Bill and I," he said.

"Anytime I have to sit in the body and be one of his stooges, I'll get the hell out," Skarda said. "It sure is funny how he makes an incident out of what happened."

"It is even more interesting to me how quiet he was when some of his boys smashed up the half million-dollar state airplane duck hunting," Skarda said. "I am sure there is a lot to be told about that and maybe someone should take a good look at that."

RFK Graveside To Include Quotations In Granite

Washington (AP) — The Army is planning to build a $677,000 permanent gravesite for Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, featuring his quotations inscribed in granite.

The gravesite of the assassinated senator, who died a year ago Friday, is located on a grassy hill south of the resting place of his brother, President John F. Kennedy, in Arlington National Cemetery.

The federal government will pay $257,800 of the cost and the Kennedy family the remaining $419,200. If the price should go above the present estimate, the Kennedy family will finance the difference, the Army said. A start on construction of the permanent gravesite awaits congressional action. It will be ready about a year after Congress votes the money.

About seven million visitors stopped at the graves of the Kennedy brothers last year, the Army said.

The plans for Robert Kennedy's grave are less elaborate than the grave of President Kennedy, which cost $2.4 million.

The late senator's resting place will be marked by a white wooden cross, separated from a semicircular granite platform set in the grass at the base of the hill.

The 30-foot-radius platform and walkways will be built of granite to match the existing paving at the grave of President Kennedy.

The design contemplates a reflecting pool, measuring 10 by 38 feet, on the east side of the platform, facing toward Washington across the Potomac River.

A low granite wall inscribed with Sen. Kennedy's quotations will be constructed along the east edge of the pool.

The Army Engineers intend to build a special new walkway exclusively for the stretching from the senator's use of the handicapped and grave to that of his brother.

$170,000 Crisis Fund Okayed By Methodists

... Not 'Black Manifesto' Response, Declares Bond

Omaha (AP) — Delegates to the annual conference of the United Methodist Church in Nebraska have approved a $170,000 urban-rural crisis fund.

A show of hands on the last day of the conference indicated an estimated 60 to 70% favored the fund.

The church's Finance Commission recommended the funds be raised by:

- Having each minister in the conference offer one per cent of his cash salary for 1969 and 1970 to the fund, raising about $36,000.
- Diverting $7,000 of church money now in short-term investments to the Franklin Credit Union in Omaha.

—Sale of some church property. This could raise as much as $160,000.

—Loans from the 1969 capital improvements fund and a $100,000 allocation from the 1970 capital improvements fund.

—Adjusting the 1970 budget to reduce other funds by $25,000, which will go to the crisis fund. The conference agreed to provide the $170,000 "as needed" for 18 months, beginning July 1.

The Rev. Nye Bond, Lincoln pastor and chairman of the Nebraska Conference United Methodists for Church Renewal, said the program was not a response to the "black manifesto" issued by James Forman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

At its opening session Monday, the Nebraska conference rejected the SNCC demand for cash payments in reparation for past mistreatment of Negroes by the church.

"This was our thing," the Rev. Mr. Bond said. "We saw a need in Nebraska that the church could reach out and help."

The Rev. Emmett Streeter, Omaha Negro pastor, said approval of the proposal "gives a new answer to charges of the black community that the church is not doing anything to meet their needs."

The delegates also adopted a 1970 budget of $2,171,473. The present budget is $2,015,050.

The crisis fund proposes to provide:

- $10,000 for training staff and increasing investments for the Franklin Credit Union in Omaha.

- $3,000 for Project Equality, a fair employment project already supported by the church.

- $10,000 for establishing a Negro radio station in Omaha.

- $30,000 for community organizations among Indian and migrants.

- $50,000 for expanding the work of the United Methodist Community Centers and Metropolitan Ministries.

- $55,000 for Operation Crossroads, which provides financial aid to minority students wishing to attend Nebraska Wesleyan University.

- $3,000 for promotion and operation of the crisis fund program.

ALMOST DESTROYED . . . firemen fight blaze at 845 B.

Flames Damage Homes In Two Separate Fires

Lincoln fire officials described damages as "very extensive" as the result of two separate house fires which erupted Friday afternoon.

Assistant Fire Chief W. L. Malcom said flames "almost totally destroyed" a house and its contents at 845 B St.

Firemen had considerable difficulty in handling the fire because of extreme heat and heavy smoke which surrounded the home, he said.

Norman Behrens said that he and his family were at home when the fire was discovered. He said it had apparently started in a northeast room.

As Flames Spreading

Fire officials said firemen arrived at the scene as the flames were spreading throughout the interior of the home and through the roof.

There was no immediate word on the cause of the blaze.

An earlier fire was reported at the Clair Pettit home at 3341 So. 48th.

Fire Inspector Jerry McGinn said heavy damages were caused to the second story of the home.

Live Ashes

Cause of the fire was apparently the result of "live" ashes from a basement incinerator coming up through the chimney and landing on the roof, McGinn said.

The Pettit's daughter Paulette, 19, and son David, 16, were at home when the fire started and were notified of the blaze by a neighbor. Goldie Beck, 15, who said she smelled smoke and then spotted flames rising from the roof.

The blaze was extinguished shortly after fire fighters arrived, but flames gutted most of the upstairs rooms and caused smoke damage to other parts of the home, officials said.

No Damage As Combine Hits Street Overpass

No damage was reported in an accident at 14th and Cornhusker Hwy. Friday afternoon when a combine being towed behind a truck driven by Roger W. Bardell, 23, of Seward, scraped the bottom of an overpass near the intersection.

Police officials said they could see no reason why the combine scraped the overpass since the combine was reportedly lower than the height restriction.

"Perhaps the overpass shrank," one officer joked.

Richard T. Seckinger Dies

Richard T. Seckinger, general agent for Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co. in Lincoln since 1957, died Friday in Pennsylvania at the age of 51.

Funeral services are scheduled for Wednesday at the Hamilton-Hosman funeral home in Detroit, Mich.

Mr. Seckinger, who made his home at 1300 cottonwood Dr., was a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Lincoln Life Underwriters Association and the Charter Life Underwriters Chapter. He was a past president of the Nebraska General Agents and Managers Association.

Survivors include his wife, Virginia; a daughter, Jeanne Cook of New Jersey; his father, Richard D., of Johnstown, Pa.; two brothers, William of Torrence, Calif. and John of Harrisburg, Pa. and two grandchildren.

Power Failure Triggers Alarms

A power failure in downtown Lincoln Friday night touched off alarms in some downtown stores and at the West Gate Bank, police said.

Officials of the Lincoln Electric System said they could find no reason for the failure and termed it a "power surge" on one of the main generators.

The situation was quickly corrected, officials said, by changing to an emergency generator and then switching back to the main system after repairs were made.

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

A heretofore good senator from Lincoln, William Swanson, slipped a long way in our book this week when he voted with the majority in overriding the governor's veto of the so-called Nebraska self-defense act. This is the act that legalizes murder.

Swanson's vote on this one measure alone should be well remembered by his electorate if he seeks re-election in 1972 at the end of his present four-year term. This is without a question the worst piece of legislation that senators have ever passed.

It is incomprehensible that 30 senators would approve of a measure with the potential for disaster that this one contains. To say such a law will not be abused is naive and to pass it is utterly stupid.

The law will most certainly be abused — not by the average citizen but by the dull-minded, the highly emotional, the politically irrational, the drunk, the hopeless, the frustrated and a host of others who permanently or temporarily do not follow the normal and accepted patterns of personal behavior.

This law says that, with full protection against prosecution, you can protect your family and real and personal property "by any means necessary."

Imagine a man of low IQ, for instance, who discovers that his wife is running around with another man. Grounds for killing the intruder? Not under existing law. Maybe or maybe not grounds for killing under the self-defense act but we are very certain that such a husband could consider it as grounds.

Governor Norbert Tiemann termed the override of his veto as a "tragedy" and we are completely in agreement with him. The governor has taken a courageous position on this measure and is to be highly commended for it.

The governor is to be commended, too, for another action this week. He has firmly backed up the upholding of the law in a case involving the immunity from legal jeopardy on the part of state senators.

Two state senators are involved in a speeding arrest case and the governor has fully supported prosecution of the case after the legislative immunity period ends 15 days following adjournment of the Legislature. He has backed the state trooper involved against charges and denials made by the two senators.

There is no effort here to judge the guilt or innocence of the two Omaha senators. As the governor has said, they will have the opportunity to defend themselves in court.

This case, however, involves more than a routine traffic violation, if such violations can ever be classed as routine. The case involved alleged serious abuse of the officer involved and threats made against him.

Thus, the case involves what, if proven, would be a real abuse of senatorial immunity. The governor has taken the position that he will not approve of such abuse and we think the people of Nebraska will applaud him for that.

The principle of senatorial immunity is a long established one and one of value but its intent is not to place senators in a position of high privilege and special favor. It's idea is to protect senators from abuse and thus leave them free to vote their convictions in all matters.

Further, it does recognize certain demands upon legislators and the fact that they should not be made to pay a price for infractions of the law that are the result of their performance of a public service.

But it gives them no right to flout the law or to abuse an officer of the law. There is no exemption from respect of the law, even in the highest echelons of government.

The governor's action is of the kind that builds public respect for the law and confidence in our system of justice.

Churchill Bows Out While Ike Gambles

NEW YORK — Ike Eisenhower must have been the loneliest man in the world, that long night before "The Longest Day" — 25 years ago. After all the tens of thousands of loose ends had been tied up, Nature growled its veto. The weather turned vile. The most colossal and momentous invasion in history had to be held up, cornered by a wild beast.

Churchill wasn't of any help to him. Churchill was a monumental pain in the neck. He seemed to believe that he must be recognized as the real Supreme Commander whose suggestions should simply be turned over to the mimeograph machines and transmuted into orders. He had bugged Ike for days.

The Prime Minister wanted to be present when the troops hit the beaches of Normandy. He was the greatest figure on the Allied side; the personal enemy of Hitler. He must not be deprived of his place in the tapestry of history.

Ike said no, he couldn't go. Ike had too many other things to worry about. He didn't want a dead Prime Minister on his hands. Churchill fumed and became more insistent. He threatened to enlist in the Royal Navy, and go as a seaman. Ike finally had to go to King George VI. The King said that, he, too, would like to go. That was all that Ike needed, until it was said he saw in the King's response a way to dump Churchill.

He told Churchill that if he insisted upon charging across the Channel with the troops, the King would accompany him. That was that. Churchill bowed out.

The Prime Minister left Ike late that black and still stormy night. He had given the American commander his last blessing. It wasn't a warming salute. He seemed to be saying, "You're on your own. Don't blame me if things go wrong."

Like a 20th century Pontius Pilate, he was washing his hands of the awesome decision. Ike would have to take his own chances with the historians. And with his men. If his decision sent them into history's largest and bloodiest ambush, he would be damned forever and a day. Surely, he would have been removed from his duties. And certainly he would never have become President of the United States. In a sense, this simple, uncomplicated man from a place named Abilene, Kansas, to which he returned so recently, took the biggest gamble of his times.

And won.

Open Housing Bill Survives

After the most extensive scrutiny of any bill so far this season, the Legislature this week advanced from first round floor consideration LB718, the statewide open housing law. That it received a 35-5 favorable sendoff we hope bodes well for clear sailing into enactment.

The attempts to emasculate the bill by amending it to water down or remove its enforcement provisions, the furious give and take over what must be deep-seated conviction, the picking apart of each provision in a way is a badge of merit for a truly important measure which could go a long way in making this state a better place for all its people.

Down to a well-deserved defeat went an amendment sponsored by Sen. Clifton Batchelder of Omaha which would remove all enforcement provisions and leave jurisdiction to the courts. That would have been tantamount to almost no law at all because most of the people who have cause to go to the courts for remedy against discriminatory practices in housing are those that can't afford to be litigants. Likewise we applaud the failure to approve an amendment which would have provided for enforcement of the bill by county attorneys instead of the Equal Opportunities Commission, because many of the county attorneys across the state do not have the time, training or inclination to prosecute charges of discrimination.

Most eloquent in supporting the measure as written was Sen. Edward Danner of Omaha, the Legislature's only Negro, who asked his colleagues to give the state's minority people "a full meal or none at all... if you can't pass an effective bill I beg you to kill it. The time is past for pretending."

It appears that a majority of the Legislature is prepared to give that full meal. We note that all six Lincoln-area senators voted in favor of first-round approval.

A Combination Effort

When the swimming pool at Lincoln Air Park West opens, probably next week, it will represent a real spirit of cooperation. The opening has involved work and effort on behalf of both public and private bodies.

Residents of the area pushed the idea originally, interesting the city as an operator and as furnishing the expertise. These citizens suggested that memberships be sold to assure an operating income sufficient to pay expenses, thus eliminating the need for an expenditure of tax funds in an area which currently is not a part of the city limits.

City officials liked the idea and promised to pursue the matter. A meeting was held with representatives of the Lincoln Airport Authority, under whose jurisdiction the former Lincoln Air Force Base pool falls.

The authority was willing to let the pool be opened and cooperated to the fullest in that endeavor. Residents in the area soon had more than $7,000 in memberships pledges and the opening of the pool was assured.

In this whole process, everyone gave a little and the residents of the area backed up their requests with action. It is a fine example of what can be done if only people have a sincere desire to do something. As a result, a fine recreation will be provided this summer for thousands of children and adults where nothing at all had been anticipated just a few months ago.

The Heart Transplant: When Everything Went Wrong With Her, God Became A Busy Signal

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the concluding section of a two-part article on a young Florida couple whose life was hit by tragedy when a weakened artery was discovered in the brain of Nancy Nickerson, wife of a police sergeant.)

There was a team of five doctors. On April 5th, Nancy, softly sedated, was placed in a tub of water which dropped in temperature to 80 degrees. When they got her into the operating room at Baptist Hospital, the team knew that they were trying to defuse a time bomb. The beautiful long blonde hair was taken off and the face was bland as the masked men began to drill holes in the skull and saw through the bone between them.

A big piece of skull was lifted out and the dome of diffused light overhead showed the pulsing aneurism on the brain. The five doctors began to breathe as the clamps were made ready to seal it off. They worked as silently and carefully as robbers toying tenderly with a safe. The aneurism burst and blood began to pulse out of the brain.

Transfusions had been made ready and two doctors with sponges began to sop up the blood to find the rupture. From noon until 9 p.m. they worked on the pretty lady and put twelve pints of blood into her to replace losses. They found the rupture and sealed it and two neurosurgeons wheeled Nancy to intensive care.

One saw the police sergeant, "Nick," he said, "she hasn't got much of a chance. Everything went wrong." God became a busy signal. Nick trotted alongside the cart as though love itself could restore consciousness. "Nancy!" he said. The tired girl surprised everybody. She opened her eyes and said: "Hi, Honey!" Then she lapsed into a coma.

Every day for 20 of them, Nick came to sit beside the sleeping beauty three times a day. She had bandages around the head and green plastic tubes everywhere. On Good Friday, he thought her eyes followed him around the room. "Honey," he said, "do you know me?" She had a tracheotomy tube in her throat and talking was a chore. "Yes," she said, and then she smiled real big. "You're my Nickerson."

"Do you know our children?" She whispered: "Vicky and Jimbo." Nick began to hope. She lapsed back into the deep sleep and he drove to the Church of the Little Flower and began to make all the promises no man can keep. God kept putting a thought in his mind that Nick didn't want to remember. A year ago, Nancy had said: "I've been reading about these heart transplants. Nick, if anything happens to me, let me help somebody else."

He shut it out. Nancy went into cardiac arrest. A greenish oscillating machine with a wavy line began to order her heart to beat. At 5:30 a.m. a doctor phoned. "Nick," he said. "Get over here quick." The big man began to crack. He hurried to her side and her eyes were open and unblinking.

"The damage is irreversible," a doctor told him. "Would you be agreeable to a heart transplant?" Nick stayed with the question until 4:30 p.m. and then he said yes and his head fell between his knees. He was giving his wife away. A special ambulance came from the Miami Heart Institute and kept Nancy's heart going on a twenty-mile ride.

She went into a big squarish room with little

How long will the American people allow such authorized expenditures to continue without protest? I say thanks to five members of the State Board of Education who are bringing this to the people.

Lincoln, Neb. According to the news media the whole world is going to "pot." It used to be bathtub gin, nail polish, cigarettes, gambling, short skirts, nudists, pot and sex. But, they tell us, everyone is young once. Trouble is, nobody grows up.

We just seem to telescope into one unit. The young push too hard and the hard pushed old seem to devour the young like animals in a zoo.

Authorities are seeking to legislate against kids experimenting with "pot." Can they, also, legislate against sex and cigarettes with any success toward enforced conformity?

What about the conformers? They hate

Traffic Lights

Lincoln, Neb. I am wondering what can be done about the traffic light situation in this city. I realize the traffic engineer says he can't fill all the requests because there is not enough money and that certain intersections need signals more than others.

But I think the City Council is wrong for not allowing enough money for traffic signals because certainly other less important things could be dropped from the budget and I also think the traffic engineer could re-evaluate his priorities. Specifically, I am talking about the intersection of 40th and A. With the large volume of traffic on A St. and more and more traffic on 40th, it is almost impossible to get across A, especially with the trees on A casting shadows and the glare of the sun in the morning you can't see the cars coming. Someday there will be a terrible accident that a signal could prevent.

GEORGE JORDAN

They Had A Dream

Chief Victorio and a band of 100 renegade Apaches eluded pursuing troops and galloped across the New Mexico desert toward a small settlement at old Fort Tularosa.

For two years, since fleeing the Fort Stanton Reservation, Victorio had outflanked and outfoxed the cavalry and had written his rebellion in the blood of whites across the entire Southwest.

But Victorio's time was growing short. On May 13, 1880, as the Apache band pushed toward old Fort Tularosa, Sgt. George Jordan, Troop K, 9th U.S. Cavalry, went about bedding down his detachment of 25 Buffalo soldiers.

Jordan and his men were encamped 50 or so miles from Tularosa. But they were unaware of Victorio's nearness until a lone rider on a lathered horse dashed into their camp with the news.

Jordan broke camp and pushed his troops to the settlement in a hurried night ride. They arrived at dawn, and Victorio attacked at dusk. It was the beginning of the end for Victorio.

During the day, Jordan had erected a stockade and moved the frightened civilians inside it. Carefully stationing his troopers, Jordan waited for the attack.

When it came, Jordan was ready. The troopers caught the enemy in a withering fire. The Indians attacked again but once more were driven off by a devastating fusillade.

After that encounter, Victorio was kept on the run and finally pushed into Mexico by other cavalry units. He was killed by Mexican soldiers five months later.

Sgt. Jordan, a year after his fight with Victorio, had another run-in with the Apaches in Carrizo Canyon in New Mexico. Again he outwitted and outfought them with a tiny force of 19 men who held their ground and repelled the attack.

For his leadership in these two engagements, Jordan was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor. He was one of 17 troopers so honored in the all-Negro 9th and 10th U.S. Cavalry regiments for service in the Indian wars.

Members of the two regiments came to be known by renegade Indians as the Buffalo soldiers partly because their hair resembled the shaggy coat of the buffalo and partly because of their prowess as fighters.

The thin line of the 9th and 10th often was the only symbol of law and order in wide expanses of the West. Besides Indians, the two regiments also engaged bandits, murderers, cattle rustlers and Mexican revolutionaries. Their campaigns took them throughout Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado and the Dakotas between 1867 and 1891.

Born in Williamson County, Tenn., Sgt. Jordan was only 18 when he joined the 9th when it was founded in 1866. He was awarded his Medal of Honor in 1890, 10 years after his encounter with Victorio. Jordan retired from the service in 1897 after 30 years. He was 49. He spent the rest of his life on a $12 monthly pension at the U.S. Soldier's Home in Washington, D.C.

Tiemann Won't Change His Philosophy

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Although recognizing what appears to be "a significant shift to the right" in terms of national political philosophy, Gov. Norbert Tiemann said Friday he does not expect to move with it.

Asked at his weekly news conference whether governors will need to trim their sails to match the changing mood of the country, Tiemann declared:

"I don't plan to trim mine."

"I have always been known to be a conservative, and I still am."

If the Legislature's action Thursday in overriding his veto of the unlimited self-defense act was truly indicative of the mood in Nebraska, then the state is moving "far, far to the right," Tiemann said.

Isolated Incident

But, he suggested, that action may be more of an isolated incident.

"The 35-5 vote favoring open housing may indicate that the shift is not that marked," the governor said.

In any event, he said, he hopes public reaction will demand legislative repeal of the self-defense act before the 1969 Unicameral adjourns.

"It is a serious bill," Tiemann declared.

"It is one of the worst bills this session or any session every passed. And I am reasonably certain that public reaction will favor repeal."

Vigilante Law Seen

The bill, LB925, authorizes citizens to use "any means necessary" to protect themselves or their property.

In vetoing the measure, Tiemann warned that it would implement "a system of vigilante law enforcement" in the state.

Lawmakers overrode the veto Thursday on a 30-16 vote.

In reply to questioning, the governor said the Legislature's action "has got to be taken as a personal defeat to some degree." It was the first of Tiemann's four vetoes as governor which has not been sustained.

But the governor said he is "not concerned" with the personal defeat.

Primary Concern

"The primary concern is the establishment of bad legislation on the books," Tiemann said.

The Legislature, to a degree, was motivated by some desire to override the governor without reference to the bill itself, Tiemann agreed in responding to one question.

Tiemann said he was pleased with the Legislature's 35-5 vote moving the open housing bill from first stage floor consideration.

"I hope it will be passed in its original form," he said.

Schmit Raps Tiemann Comments On Veto Vote

Sen. Loran Schmit of David City Friday said Gov. Norbert Tiemann is wrong if he believes that Schmit voted for the motion to override the governor's veto of the unlimited self-defense bill in order to win support for his ombudsman proposal.

Schmit said he assumes that Tiemann vetoed the bill because he thought it was proper to do so.

"I regret that he feels any member of this body would vote for or against any bill on any basis other than that," the senator declared.

Schmit responded to comments made by the governor earlier in the day.

Swap Seen

Tiemann told his news conference that the motion to override his veto received its climatic 30th vote as a result of "a monumental swap."

Schmit supplied the 30th vote after moving to reconsider the first motion to override, which had failed by a single vote.

The governor's inference appeared to be that Schmit was shopping for support for his ombudsman bill in joining the majority.

Tiemann said the vote on the veto motion represented "one of the most flagrant examples of vote trading" this session.

Termed Not True

Schmit said the inference that he was swapping votes is "not true." As a matter of fact, he suggested, more opponents of the override motion had supported general file consideration of his ombudsman bill than had proponents.

Schmit said he supported the self-defense bill, LB925, in committee. "To my recollection, the governor's staff did not testify against it," he said.

Again on general file and on final reading, he supported the bill, Schmit noted. So he had voted three times for the proposal before Tiemann vetoed the bill, he said.

Support Cited

"No one other than the governor has expressed disappointment in me," Schmit said. "People in my district were outspoken last night in favor of the bill."

Schmit said he believes society has "bent over backwards lately to protect the lawless," and he hopes LB925 will balance the score.

As for his ombudsman bill, LB521, Schmit said, "I am not afraid to have it judged on its own merits, and I believe the Legislature will pass it if it considers the bill to be good legislation regardless of how either the governor or I feel."

Meanwhile, the only Lancaster County senator who supported the motion to override Tiemann's veto said he did so because he "basically approves of the concept of LB925."

Vote Explained

Sen. William Swanson of

Lincoln, who parted with his five other Lancaster colleagues on the vote, said he is "a firm believer in law and order."

Recently, he said, "there has been a very real deviation from support for law and order, and citizens in some instances now rightfully fear for their lives and the protection of their property."

Their rights of self-defense should be assured, Swanson said.

Ironically, Swanson first became a legislator upon the appointment of Tiemann. The governor appointed Swanson in 1967, and he subsequently was elected to a four-year term last fall.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Mother Enjoys Work, Refuses Financial Aid

By ROBERT PETERSON

Q. — "My brother and I flew out to visit Mom a couple of weeks ago and discovered she's been selling cosmetics door to door the past year. We were shocked because she used to be regent of the DAR and her grandfather was a noted pioneer. She said she went to work part-time because Dad didn't leave her enough to live on and she didn't want to bother us. We offered to chip in and send her something each month. But she says she won't take a penny from us and actually enjoys this work. Shouldn't we insist? She's 72."

A. — Let her do as she wishes. She's likely found that sales work can be very satisfying, since it gets her out of the house and into contact with new people. Folks should never look down on the selling game. Ever since the days of the Yankee peddler, selling has been a respectable profession, and many housewives like the convenience of buying at home. You and your brother should be putting aside a sum monthly that can accumulate pending the day when your mother may be unable to continue working.

Q. — "Apartments are scarce in our suburb, and we're lucky to have ours. But there's no rent control and the landlord raises the rent whenever he feels like it. We can barely afford the $240 we're paying monthly, and now he tells us he's raising it to $300 next month. What kills us is that he's already notoriously rich, 80 years old, goes no place, and has no relatives. Wouldn't you think he'd give us a break, instead of demanding every nickel he can squeeze from us young families?"

A. — You'd think so, but the world is full of avaricious businessmen who may have no use whatever for extra money but find some dull satisfaction in making more and more. Thanks to our free enterprise system such men don't corner a market long. If profits are too rich someone usually steps in and provides some competition.

If you would like a booklet, "Selecting a New Career After Forty," write to Robert Peterson, c/o Dispatch Letter Service, 25 W. 45th St., New York, N.Y. 10036, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents to cover handling costs.

As for his ombudsman bill, LB521, Schmit said, "I am not afraid to have it judged on its own merits, and I believe the Legislature will pass it if it considers the bill to be good legislation regardless of how either the governor or I feel."

Meanwhile, the only Lancaster County senator who supported the motion to override Tiemann's veto said he did so because he "basically approves of the concept of LB925."

ONLY THE BEGINNING

For all those who truly seek wisdom this is "Only The Beginning" time. It's time for rewards but also time for setting the sails to cope with the high winds ahead. Commencement to serious minds can be little less than frightening. Have these young people learned well to do their duty? Are they qualified to accept prosperity? Are they fortified for adversity? Have they learned about God? If they have not learned these things well, then they have learned but little.

Opportunities are in abundance for those who are determined.

Commencement is only the first round on a ladder that reaches to the stars for all who will but apply themselves. Then, young graduates, be of great faith and unlimited perseverance. For He said you have only "to seek and ye shall find, knock and it shall be opened unto you."

Truck Weight Limit Increase Advanced

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature Friday gave solid first stage endorsement to a bill which would increase maximum truck weight limits on Nebraska highways other than the Interstate.

The measure, LB911, gained 25-3 general file assent. Voting against the proposal were Sens. Fern Hubbard, Orme of Lincoln, Leslie Stull of Alliance, and Elmer Wallwey of Emerson.

LB911 would increase single and tandem axle loads and the overall gross weight limits on trucks, but repeal the present 5% tolerance over maximum limits permitted on highways other than the Interstate.

Sen. Henry Pedersen Jr. of Omaha sought assurance that the additional weights would not "do harm to our highways and bridges."

Support Told

Sen. C. W. Holmquist of Oakland, chief sponsor of the bill, said the Department of Roads supports the measure and is "not fearful at all" about its effect on the highways.

The proposed new limits would be greater on roads other than the Interstate because the superhighway limits are now frozen by the federal government. Congress is considering legislation to boost Interstate limits.

Holmquist said the increased weights would boost truck license fee revenue by $500,000 to $750,000, thus providing more revenue to help improve roads that may be sub-standard.

Net weight increases are relatively small in view of elimination of the tolerance feature, Sen. William Wylie of Elgin noted.

"We need these weights to get our produce to market," Wylie said.

Supported By Governor
Holmquist, with some hesitation, told his colleagues that the bill has the support of Gov. Norbert Tiemann.

"I hope this would be an advantage," he said.

Senators generally are less than pleased with the governor as a result of his reaction to their self-defense bill and his directive to the Nebraska State Patrol to ticket senators for any law violation for prosecution after their immunity from arrest ends.

Denney Co-Sponsor Of Bill To Allow Bigger Trucks

AP Regional Service
Washington (AP) — Those big over-the-road trucks motorists see will be getting even bigger on federal highways if a bill sponsored by two congressmen wins congressional approval.

Co-sponsors of the measure are Reps. Robert V. Denney, R-Neb., and John C. Kluczynski, D-Ill.

Their proposal would permit heavier, wider and, in some instances, longer, tractor-trailer trucks on federal Interstate and defense highways.

The present federal single LB911 would increase the single axle load limit from 18,900 pounds (including present tolerance) to 20,000 pounds, and boost tandem axle limits from 33,600 to 34,000 pounds.

Weight limits on large trucks would increase considerably.

axle weight limit is 18,000 pounds. If the proposal introduced in the House Wednesday is approved, this would be raised to 20,000 pounds.

Present federal tandem axle weight limit is 32,000 pounds. This would be raised to 34,000 pounds.

Vehicle width under the bill would be increased by six inches, from 96 to 102.

The bill would restrict to 70 feet the length of trucks. There is no present federal restriction on length but state limits run from 55 to 70 feet.

Measure To Help Prosecute Bad Check Writers Passed

By Associated Press

The Legislature Friday gave final approval to a bill which its backers have said will have an immeasurable effect in helping the prosecution of persons found issuing insufficient-fund checks.

Passed on a 38-0 vote was Chappell Sen. Ramey Whitney's LB1051.

Specifically, the bill deletes a requirement in present law that the check drawer actually "receive notice" that he has issued a bad check.

Instead, the bill requires the county attorney to mail to the drawer a notification that the check had been issued and that prosecution would occur in five days unless the check were made good.

Also passed Friday morning on a 36-0 vote was Omaha Sen. Harold Moyle's LB1021, which will allow cities and counties to set up low-rent housing projects without an election in certain cases.

The election, previously required for all such projects, will be ignored under the new law where financial assistance is provided by the federal government and where state funds are not required as a condition of the federal aid.

LB1010 (Holmquist) — Broadening the legal investments permitted domestic insurance companies, 40-0.

LB1028 (Skarda) — Prohibiting the State Game Commission from taking official action at any meeting except a public meeting held at its headquarters, and requiring all "regular meetings" of the commission be held in the same city as its headquarters, 38-1.

LB1051 (Robinson, Wylie) — Setting standards for land surveys filed with county officers, and providing requirements for registration of land surveys, including an examination and eight years of experience, 37-0.

LB1071 (Waldo, Kremer) — Changing fees for inspection of nursery stock from a flat $10 to a maximum of $15 with the fee based on amount of stock, time spent in inspections and distance traveled, 37-0.

LB1015 (Swanson) — Providing that a trustee named in a will may also be a beneficiary of the deceased's life insurance policy with the proceeds of the insurance paid immediately after the providing of the will, 37-0.

LB1021 (Moyle) — Deleting a requirement that public low-rent housing projects be authorized by election when financial assistance for the project is provided by the federal government and when state funds are not required as a condition of the federal aid, 36-0.

LB1051 (Whitney, Carstens) — Allowing county attorneys to mail notice of non-fund or insufficient-fund checks to the drawer, 38-0.

LB1074 (Budget Committee) — Transferring the Whitehall Home for Children in Lincoln from the Institutions Department to the Department of Public Welfare, but allowing the Institutions Department to contract with the Institutions Department for the operation and maintenance of the home, 38-0.

Three-Year License Plates Advanced By Committee

The Legislature's Public Works Committee Friday advanced two bills to the floor, including a measure under which Nebraskans would receive only one new set of license plates every three years.

The bill, LB1139, was sponsored by the committee at the request of Gov. Norbert Tiemann's Little Hoover Commission.

Also advanced Friday was Waverly Sen. Jerome Warner's LB949, which in its original form would have transferred the state weighing stations and the Accident Records Bureau from the Highway Department.

As amended by the committee, however, the bill would make only minor reorganizational changes in the Highway Department.

The committee has already introduced a resolution calling for an interim study on the Accident Bureau and weighing stations' functions.

In Suburbia

We would imagine that after having experienced one or two weeks of no-school-and-kiddies-at-home, most Lincoln mothers are probably about ready to take a well-earned vacation. And in light of all the comings and goings that have been evident recently we feel safe in assuming that a few of them have been getting just that — a vacation.

But before we mention just who the suburban travelers are, we'd like to tell a bit about a birthday party which took place earlier this week. The festivities occurred on Tuesday and they were held to honor Miss Kathy Lococo, daughter of Fiene Heights residents Mr. and Mrs. James Lococo, who had entered the ranks of five-year-olds two days earlier, on June 1.

On hand for the Tuesday afternoon party, which was complete with traditional games, cake and ice cream, were Cindy and Christy Jensen, Scott and Rochelle Ryan, Vicki Briggs, Jeanne Lindstrom, Alan Worster, Jeff Arnetzen, Dale Sackett, and of course Kathy's older brother, Tom.

Traveling for Mr. and Mrs. Robert Colburn and sons, Scott and Craig, took the form of a Memorial Day trip to Superior. Returning to Lincoln with the Colburn family on Sunday was Mrs. Colburn's mother, Mrs. L. B. Davison of Bassett. We understand that Mrs. Davison will be returning to Bassett today.

Trips of a little longer duration also have been keeping suburban residents busy of late, and one traveler who will be leaving today for a vacation on the west coast is Mrs. John Sheldon of Lincoln Heights. Mrs. Sheldon will spend three weeks sightseeing and visiting with relatives in California. During her visit in California, which we understand is an annual event, Mrs. Sheldon will be the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Elmer Showalter, who makes her home in Rowland Heights, Calif.

Two members of the younger generation from Lincoln Heights are presently participating in what could best be described as "a vacation to remember." Miss Janie Bockoven, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bockoven, and Miss Susan Dunlap, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Dunlap, left a week ago Friday morning with the other members of Girl Scout Troop No. 131 for a sightseeing vacation in and around Washington, D.C. and New York City. Mrs. Bockoven tells us that the girls have quite an agenda planned for them including such highlights as breakfast with Nebraska Sen. Carl Curtis and a visit to the White House.

Following two weeks of interesting travel the youngsters and their leader, Mrs. Ray Rezek, will return to Lincoln on Thursday, June 12.

Bride At An Early Evening Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Sandra TenHulzen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin TenHulzen, to Gordon Reimer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Reimer of Dallas, Ore., took place at a 6:30 o'clock ceremony on Friday evening, June 6, at the First Evangelical Free Church. The lines of the service were read by the Rev. Neale Riefert assisted by the Rev. Vernon Harms of the College View Bible Church. Mrs. Roy Reimer played the wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Paul Bovee.

The attendants were Miss Carla TenHulzen, who was her sister's maid of honor; Miss Bernice Reimer of Dallas, Ore.; Miss Glenda Marshall, Miss Marjorie McKenny, bridesmaids, and Miss Robin Cooper of Adams, junior bridesmaid. With their long, full-skirted frocks of turquoise chiffon they carried baskets of white blossoms.

Charles Curtiss of Omaha served as best man, and seating the guests were Roy Reimer, Robert Hall, Victor Harms, Orville Friesen, Wallace Reimer of Dallas, Ore., and Louis Reimer of Steinbach, Manitoba, Canada.

The bride appeared in a gown of Chantilly lace designed with a long-sleeved fitted bodice, with a lace-trimmed stand-up collar, and a bouffant floor-length skirt. Her cathedral length train was held to the head with a circlet of pearl-dotted lace, and she carried a round bouquet of white roses, baby's breath and greenery.

Following a honeymoon trip to Oregon, Mr. Reimer and his bride will reside in Lincoln.

Opening lead — seven of clubs.

This deal occurred in a team match. At both tables

South played three notrump and West led the seven of clubs.

At the first table, East won with the ace and found the excellent return of the ten of spades. Declarer covered with the jack, won by West with the queen. West returned the five, covered by the nine and king, which South ducked, and another spade lead forced out the ace.

Declarer's only real hope now was to find West with the ace and another diamond. Accordingly, he led a diamond to the king, which he held, and continued with the six to his seven, which forced out the ace. As a result South made three notrump.

At the second table, the play started the same way but took a dramatic turn when West found a spectacular way of defeating the contract.

East won the club lead with the ace and also returned the ten of spades (Note that if East leads the seven instead of the ten declarer makes two spade tricks by playing low from his hand.)

Three rounds of spades forced out the ace, as before, but when declarer led a low diamond towards dummy, West rose to the occasion by going up with the ace, dummy following low, and returning the queen of clubs!

This extraordinary play had the desired effect. It removed South's only entry to his hand before he could enjoy his diamonds, and the next effect was that South finished down two. The only tricks he scored were a spade, three hearts, a diamond and two clubs.

West's defense was very well reasoned. He realized that he had to credit East with a heart stopper as well as a diamond honor, and he also realized that passive defense would prove fatal if South has the queen of diamonds. So he willingly sacrificed a club trick in the hope that South would have to give it back later on with interest.

Jan Williams Has Friday Wedding

At 5 o'clock on Friday afternoon, June 6, the wedding of Miss Jan Ann Williams, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Jon T. Williams, and Lt. Kenneth Larry McGill, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Louie Frank McGill of Ozark, Ala., took place at the Trinity Methodist Church. The candlelight ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Darrel Berg.

Sleeveless, long-skirted frocks of chiffon in the aquamarine shade were chosen for the attendants including Mrs. Jon T. Williams, Jr., of Wichita, Kan., who was her sister-in-law's matron of honor; and bridesmaids Mrs. Terry Lucky of Ozark, Ala., sister of the bridegroom; Miss Melinda Ann McCall of Wichita, Kan.; Miss Debora Maness, and junior bridesmaid, Miss Pamela Sands. Their costumes were completed with Camelot caps fashioned of tiered lace under silk illusion.

Lt. Paul Minard of Boston, Mass., served as best man, and the groomsmen and ushers were Dr. E. Stewart Maness, Jon T. Williams, Jr., Carl J. Norden, III, Dwight James Williams and Reginald H. Chandler.

The bride appeared in a gown of silk organza patterned with pearl etched peau d'ange lace, over mist peau de soie. Beneath the modified Empire bodice, designed with a contoured neckline of scalloped lace and elbow length sleeves, the long skirt was in the silhouette mode and was banded at the hemline with lace. The re-embroidered, pearl and lace motif was repeated in scrolls on the court train which extended from the shoulders into cathedral length, and a French contour cap of silk illusion and lace held to the head her train-length veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis.

The bride is a graduate of Gulfport College, Gulfport, Miss., and also was graduated from the University of Southern Mississippi where she is a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority. Lt. McGill is a graduate of the University of Alabama where he is a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, and received his Master's degree in chemical engineering from UCLA.

Afternoon Service

On Friday afternoon, June 6, the marriage of Miss Dorothy Lee Peck, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. W. Peck of Auburn, to Kenneth K. Carnes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Carnes, also of Auburn, took place at the Auburn Methodist Church. The 4 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Gordon Patterson.

Appearing in sheath frocks of lemon yellow silk chiffon over matching satin were Mrs. Eugene Peck, Jr., of Abilene, Tex., the matron of honor; and bridesmatrons Mrs. Gerald Carnes of Ashland, and Mrs. Ronald Carnes of Wayne.

Gerald Carnes served as best man, and the groomsmen and ushers included Ronald Carnes, Capt. Eugene Peck of Abilene, Tex.; James Butts of Kirksville, Mo.; Royce Rogge of Palmer, Kan., and Thomas Osborne.

The bride chose a gown of Chantilly lace for her wedding. The long-sleeved Empire bodice was designed with a Sabrina neckline patterned with sequins, and the long, A-line skirt was completed with an aisle-wide train. A tiara of silk petals, dotted with seed pearls, held in place her elbow length veil of silk illusion.

The bride is a former student at Nebraska Wesleyan University where she is a member of Delta Zeta sorority, and now is a junior at Bryan Memorial Hospital School of Nursing. Mr. Carnes was graduated from Peru State College where he is a member of Kappa Delta Pi honorary, and will be teaching music in the Syracuse public schools.

Wedding On Friday

At a 7:30 o'clock ceremony on Friday evening, June 6, the marriage of Miss Gayle Rosenboom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lavern Rosenboom of Waverly, to Leland L. Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clair Hall of Greenwood, took place at the Greenwood Christian Church. The Rev. Gail Porter read the lines of the service and Miss Bonnie Timblin played the wedding music. Miss Jeannette Rouhoude was the vocal soloist.

Miss Susan Roder, the maid of honor and only attendant, appeared in an Empire frock of pale pink chiffon over pink satin, and her flowers were pink roses.

George Stewart of Lincoln served as best man, and seating the guests were Mark Rosenboom and Vern Rosenboom.

The bride chose a gown of Chantilly lace over satin for her wedding. Designed in the Empire mode the long-sleeved bodice was smoothly sculptured above the silhouette skirt, and a chapel train which extended from the Empire line gave back interest to the gown. Her veil was held in place with a crown of pearl encrusted lace, and she carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Jane Wescott, Bride

Hurricane candles, greenery and arrangements of tropicana roses and Picardy gladioli appointed the chancel of St. Mathew's Church, Episcopal, for the wedding of Miss Jane Westcott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar S. Westcott, and Stephen C. Bailey, son of Mrs. Kenneth L. Bailey, and the late Mr. Bailey, which took place on Friday evening, June 6. The Rev. James Stilwell solemnized the 7 o'clock ceremony, and the wedding music was played by Frank Wasco.

Te five attendants, Miss Gretchen Garlinghouse, the maid of honor, and bridesmaids Miss Lynn Purvis, Miss Diane Bailey, Mrs. Richard Reise and Miss Nan Webster, appeared in alike frocks of chiffon over taffeta in the aquamarine shade. Designed in the Empire mode the Empire bodices were smoothly sculptured above the floor-length skirts. Each carried a nosegay of tropicana roses and baby's breath.

Alan Wood served as best man, and the corps of ushers included Del Snoberger of Trumbull; David Piester of Minden; Robert Thacker and Robert Hurlbutt.

The bride chose a gown of white silk organza over taffeta for her wedding. Re-embroidered Alencon lace contoured the throat and patterned the Empire bodice, and was repeated to cuff the long Bishop sleeves. The silhouette, A-line skirt, banded with scalloped lace banding at the hem, touched the floor. A pillbox hat of lace held in place her full-length veil of illusion, and she carried a French nosegay of lilies-of-the-valley and white roses.

Upon their return from a Colorado honeymoon Mr. Bailey and his bride will reside at 1930 So. 45th St.

The bride was graduated on May 31 from the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority. Mr. Bailey is attending the University of Nebraska, and his fraternity is Beta Theta Pi.

Abby: sense-but-

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have been giving this matter a lot of thought and have concluded that the custom of the man paying for everything when he takes a lady out is now outmoded.

First of all, today most women have as much, or more money than the man who invites them out. Also, isn't the woman getting as much entertainment as he is?

I can see a man supporting a woman in marriage, as she does many things for him such as keeping house and caring for his children, etc. But in dating, just what is she giving HIM that he isn't giving HER?

LEO

DEAR LEO: What you say makes sense, but since it is the man's privilege to do the asking, and the woman must wait to be asked, I think initially he should foot the bill. After several dates, if the woman has "as much or more money" than the man, she will invite him to her place for home-cooked meals and buy him a few gifts. It all evens out.

DEAR ABBY: Is it true that it is not proper etiquette to use a typewriter for personal correspondence? I recently bought a typewriter and have been using it for that purpose, and now I am told that it is "improper," that all personal letters should be hand-written. What is your opinion?

WONDERING: I would be more concerned with the legibility of a letter than anything else. And I think anyone who would be critical of a typewritten personal letter is a stuffed shirt.

County Attorney: Self-Defense Bill Is 'Detriment To Law Enforcement'

The self-defense bill, LB 925, passed Thursday by the Legislature over Gov. Norbert Tiemann's veto, was termed Friday a "detriment to law enforcement officials and more especially to prosecuting attorneys."

In response to a request for comment on the bill Friday by Sen. Henry F. Pedersen Jr., Lancaster County Attorney Paul Douglas said that the county attorneys with whom he had talked who had an opinion on the bill were opposed to it.

He said that the bill "is too broad and ambiguous" and does not define how much force one may use to protect himself or his property. He said he felt the Legislature, if it is possible, should consider repeal of its action.

PAUL DOUGLAS

Repeal Should Be Considered

Immunity Implied
"By a liberal interpretation there is no limit," he said, adding that the bill implies that a person is immune from criminal prosecution regardless of the means he uses to protect his property.

Douglas posed the question, "Does the bill allow that a ten-year-old boy could be shot when he is running off with a 15-cent item?"

He said the bill allows individuals to "take the law into their own hands" when there is a legitimate claim by two individuals concerning the same property because of the "broad and general" language of the bill, "It will greatly handicap the prosecuting attorney in about all assault and homicide cases," Douglas said.

He noted another problem in a provision of the bill which allows an individual to be reimbursed by the state when he is able to "beat a case" by the plea of self defense.

Douglas said he did not understand why the state should be liable in this type of case when it is not in other cases.

Example Given

For example, Douglas said, an individual could be sentenced to the penitentiary for life by mistaken identity and receive no compensation, but by some legal technicality he could win a law suit with a self-defense theory and the state would become liable for all loss of time and other expenses involved in his defense.

"At a time when we are most concerned with the rising crime rate, LB 925 would only encourage the unreasonable use of private force," the Lancaster county attorney said.

"It would not diminish violence or assist law and order. . . I see no good that can stem from the enactment of LB 925," he added.

He said Legislative standards for the use of self-help are too complex to be covered in the broad language of LB 925.

In the letter Douglas told Pedersen he would be happy to furnish whatever information or knowledge "that I have to assist you in having LB 925 repealed."

Suit Requesting $350,000 Filed In Omaha Court

Omaha (P) — Two men have filed suit in U.S. District Court in Omaha asking $351,000 from two companies and several individuals for an alleged breach of agreement to purchase stock and assets of Commercial Enterprises, Inc.

The suit was filed by William E. Osborne, identified as a resident of Lancaster County, and Eugene M. Conner of Yankton, S.D.

Defendants are Commercial Enterprises, Inc., and Christiansen Construction Co., Inc., identified as Nebraska corporations, and the following individuals: Keith Ferris, Denzil Christiansen, Norman Christiansen, Kenneth Christiansen, Louise Christiansen and Ron Dar.

Denzil, Norman and Louise Christiansen are listed as residents of Pender, Ferris of South Sioux City and Dar of Lancaster County.

The suit claims the plaintiffs entered into an agreement on or about Dec. 11, 1968, with Commercial Enterprises and other defendants, owners of the corporate stock and assets of Commercial Enterprises.

The suit claims the contract was extended beyond the termination date of Dec. 27, 1968, by the action of the defendants, and subsequently the defendants breached the agreement by selling the assets and stock of Commercial Enterprises to First Plaza Corp., causing the plaintiffs damage totaling $351,000.

The suit says the agreed purchase price was $305,000.

First Plaza announced recently that it had purchased the Black Coach supper club from Commercial Enterprises. The Black Coach is located near 10th and Arapahoe in Lincoln.

Dr. Irvin, 93, State's Oldest Practicing Physician, Is Dead

Auburn — Funeral services for Dr. I. W. Irvin, 93, oldest practicing physician in Nebraska and longtime Auburn civic leader, will be at 2 p.m. Monday at the Auburn Christian Church.

Dr. Irvin, who had practiced in Auburn since 1908, died Thursday night at the Nemaha County Hospital in Auburn.

Ex-Mayor

A former Auburn mayor and city councilman, Dr. Irvin had served as president of the Board of Education and was active in the Masonic Lodge. He was a member of the City Library Board during the time the public library building was constructed.

Dr. Irvin was a member of the board of the Auburn Christian Church when the present edifice was constructed. He had served as elder, deacon, Sunday school teacher, choir member and had even filled the pulpit. He was a member and past president of the Auburn Kiwanis Club.

In 1948 he was honored by the people of Nemaha County on the occasion of his 40th anniversary in the medical profession. At that time he had delivered 2,006 babies in addition to his general practice duties.

DR. I. W. IRVIN

Auburn Leader

A graduate of the Lincoln Medical College in 1905, he began his medical practice at Denton where he spent one year. He practiced two years at Brock before going to Auburn.

Dr. Irvin helped spearhead the 1964 construction of the Nemaha County Hospital and had a hand in establishment of the Good Samaritan Home here. An Auburn street had been named in his honor.

On his 92nd birthday, he was guest of honor at a surprise Auburn Chamber of Commerce breakfast. Afterwards he went off to work as usual.

He was honored by the Nebraska State Medical Association in 1965 for his 60 years of service and was previously cited in 1955 on the occasion of his 50th year in the medical field.

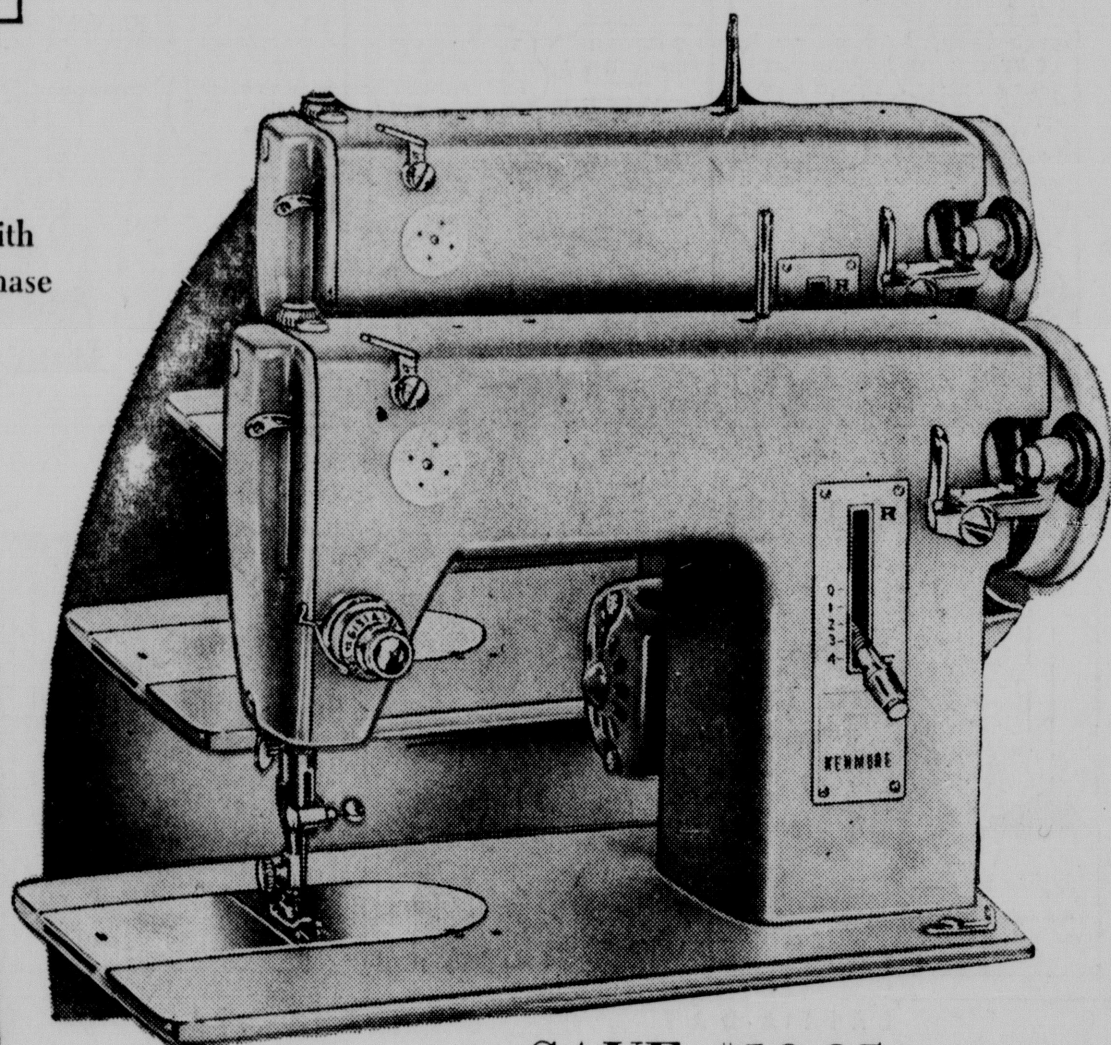

Surviving are his wife, Jennie; three sons, Gerald of Tucson, Ariz., Robert of Lincoln, and Roy of Falls City; and six grandchildren.

Majestic Prince Seeks Triple Crown In Belmont Race

New York (AP) — Unbeaten Majestic Prince, fit and fattened again, goes for racing's coveted Triple Crown Saturday as an uneasy 6-5 favorite over two tough rivals and a trio of outsiders in the 101st Belmont Stakes.

The chief rivals are Virginia-bred Arts and Letters, second by a lunging neck and a head to the red California cannonball in the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, 8-5 in the early probable odds, and stretch-driving Dike, 2-1.

The longshots, in the rugged 1½ miles test, apparently just for exposure, are Rooney's Shield, 20-1, Distray, 20-1, and Prime Fool, 30-1.

Of these, Rooney's Shield, a good-looking colt with two victories and creditable performances in such prestige events as the Wood, Withers and Goghams, is considered to have the best chance of cracking the Big Three stranglehold, but it isn't likely.

The smallest Belmont field since 1957 will go to the post at 4:37 p.m. CDT before an expected Belmont Park crowd of some 55,000 plus millions watching on television. CBS will air the event between 4 and 5 p.m.

The third jewel in the Triple Crown series for 3-year-olds poses a number of interesting questions and possibilities.

Has Arts and Letters cultivated a runner-up complex after finishing a close second to Majestic Prince in both the Derby and Preakness?

"I don't think so," insists Elliott Burch, the Yale-educated trainer of Rokeby Stable's Virginia colt. "It's true that horses are like people. They know when they win and lose. I don't think my horse knew he lost to the Prince in the Preakness — it was that close.

"Anyhow, I ran him in the Metropolitan last week just to give him confidence. The Prince is a big animal. Arts and Letters is small. The Prince may not let him by."

"It's not a matter of letting him," countered the famed Johnny Longden, who trains the Prince for Canadian multi-millionaire Frank McMahon. "Arts and Letters can't pass my horse."

Longden can become the first man to win the Triple Crown as both a trainer and rider. He swept the three 3-year-old classics in 1943 on Count Fleet and went on to score more 6,000 riding triumphs.

Longden's judgment also is on the line in the century-old horse race.

After nursing the strapping Kentucky-bred but California-campaigned colt to his ninth straight victory without a defeat in the Preakness, the tiny trainer wanted to skip the Belmont and take the Prince back to California for a rest.

"He's lost 100 pounds and he's tired," Longden said.

But McMahon insisted that the Prince go for the three-race sweep that has been accomplished only nine times, the last time by Citation in 1948.

"He's the boss," Longden said, resignedly. Later he acknowledged that Majestic Prince had regained his lost weight and was in top shape, but some observers are skeptical. Arts and Letters has been more impressive in workouts.

Support is building for Dike, the Wood Memorial winner who finished only three-quarters of a length back of the Prince at Louisville and then skipped the Preakness. Trainer Lucien Laurin this week pulled Jorge Velasquez off his horse and substituted Eddie Belmonte.

"We think we'll win it," said Laurin.

Tough Bill Hartack, rated the best of the modern riders, will be aboard Majestic Prince as he was in the previous major tests. He will face another duel with Braulio Baeza, who took over Arts and Letters' reins when Willie Shoemaker was injured just before the Derby.

Velasquez goes on Prime Fool, George Wallace's colt who has won his last three races. Larry Adams will ride Rooney's Shield and Johnny Rotz will be aboard King Ranch's Distray, who hasn't won a race this year and won only one in his lifetime.

Baseball Draft Over, Weaver's Son Tabbed

New York (AP) — Baseball concluded its free agent draft Friday with a record 1,042 players drafted in the regular phase and an additional 105 players selected in a second-phase.

Among those drafted well down the list was Mike Weaver, son of Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver.

JETS' NAMATH RETIRING

Commissioner Warns Joe To Sell Lounge

... 'GAMBLING ELEMENTS PRESENT'

New York (AP) — Broadway Joe Namath, the $100,000-a-year quarterback of the champion New York Jets, said Friday that he was quitting football because of an ultimatum to sell his interest in a swinging midtown lounge or face suspension.

The 26-year-old star of the Super Bowl champions said he was told by authorities that his place — Bachelors III — was being used by bookmakers and he was warned by pro football Commissioner Pete Rozelle to get rid of his interests within two days. Suspension was the alternative.

"It was the toughest decision I've ever had to make," said Namath, tears trickling down his face at an emotional press conference at

PETE ROZELLE

Bachelors III. "It's a matter of principle. So I quit. I'm retiring — finished."

Asked if his differences with Rozelle could be resolved, Namath replied "I hope so. The last thing I want to do is quit football."

Three other first-stringers of the Jets, the American Football League champions who upset the heavily-favored champion Baltimore Colts of the National Football League in the Super Bowl last January, said they also would quit if their swash-buckling teammate was through.

They are George Sauer, the all-AFL split end, defensive back Jim Hudson and tight end Pete Lammons. All are Texans.

"I talked to Joe," said Sauer. "I told him he would have company. He explained the whole story. I believe in him all the way. He's justified."

Rozelle said Namath, who had given indications of retiring before because of gimpy knees and movie offers, had until Friday night to unload his one-third interest in the bistro at 62nd St. and Lexington Ave.

The commissioner said Namath had been warned repeatedly about the "undesirable background and habits" of certain persons frequenting the establishment.

Rozelle said he was surprised by Namath's announcement. He said he was told Thursday night by the player's lawyer that his interests were in the process of being sold and that it would be accomplished by 10 a.m. Friday.

But Thursday night, Namath hastily arranged for a press conference for 9:30 a.m. Friday.

He showed up a half-hour late, strolling into the narrow room jammed with about 200 persons including newsmen, television and radio personnel and a few mini-skirted girls who were attracted by the hubbub outside and inside the spot.

Asked if Namath now was suspended, Rozelle, at a press conference replied: "No, he's not suspended. If he wants to reconsider, I will be happy to talk to him privately."

Rozelle's point was that Namath had declined to sell and had announced his retirement.

What happens next?

"That's up to him," replied Rozelle. "I'll be very happy to talk to him if he wants to. I'd like to see him play football very much. I was surprised at the news from the press conference because I thought last night (Thursday) that he had agreed to sell."

The slouching 6-foot-2, 195-pounder has two years to go on a three-year contract believed to call for about $300,000. He was signed out of the University of Alabama to a three-year contract for an estimated $400,000 for 1965-66-67.

Although he had hinted several times in the past about retiring, his announcement struck like a bombshell.

Brewer Snaps Slump To Take Western Lead

Midlothian, Ill. (AP) — Pugnosed Gay Brewer, breaking out of a slump that has plagued him for 1½ years, fired a four-under par 67 Friday and vaulted into the second round lead in the $130,000 Western Open Golf Tournament.

The former Masters champion had a 36 hole score of 136, six under par for two tours over the 6,654 yard, par 71 Midlothian Country Club course, and owned a one stroke lead over Frank Beard and a pair of non-winners, Dick Rhyhan and Rocky Thompson.

Thompson, 29, a tour regular for five years, had a second round 70. Beard, who shared the first round lead, had a 71 and Rhyhan, a stocky, 34-year-old, had a 70, all for 137.

Ken Still's 66 left him alone in fourth at 138. Billy Maxwell, tied with Beard at the end of the first day's play, slipped to a 73 for 139 and was one of seven at that figure. Big Bob Lunn fired a 65, matching the course record set by Bobby Locke in 1948, and was tied with five others, including Gary Player, who had a 72, and Lee Trevino, 68.

Defending champion Jack Nicklaus, Billy Casper, PGA champ Julius Boros and Masters champion George Archer all had second round 72s. Nicklaus for 143, Casper for 141, Boros for 144 and Archer for 146.

Brewer, who hasn't scored a regular tour victory — his two triumphs in the Alcan golfer of the year tournament don't count as tour events — since taking the 1967 Masters, credited a refund putting touching with his improved play.

"I haven't been playing that badly," he said, "but my putting has been off. I found out what I was doing wrong."

He did little wrong in Friday's play, knocking in 6 and 15 foot birdie putts going out, collecting birds from 4, 12 and 7 feet on the backside before taking his lone bogey, on the 18th, missing the green.

Tourney Of Champions Has Streamlined Field

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Grand Island — A streamlined field that includes eight of the top 10 finishers from a year ago and seven of the top 10 in last summer's Nebraska State Amateur will vie for the top prize in the ninth annual Tournament of Champions Golf Tournament at the Riverside Golf Club here today and Sunday.

Heading the entry list that has been slimmed down a bit this year to sideline some of the higher scorers of recent years is headed by four-time and defending champion Matt Taber of Lincoln.

The southpaw-swinging Taber has won here in 1963, 1965, 1966 and 1968 as all eight previous championships have been won by Lincoln golfers.

Other champions from Lincoln have been Gary Gruenemeier in 1961, Dick Spangler Jr. in 1962, Gene Chadwell in 1964 and Scott Brunzell in 1967.

Taber's chief challengers for a fifth title are again expected to come from a large Lincoln contingent, however, a Lincoln transplant to North Platte could cost the Capital City its domination of the tourney crown.

Charlie Borner, the reigning Lincoln City and Nebraska State champion, now makes his home in North Platte where he served as golf coach at North Platte High School the past year.

Two other strong non-Lincoln contenders figure to be eight-time Nebraska State champion Bob Astleford of Omaha and Denver's Ron Moore, a former resident of Grand Island and a former Colorado State Amateur king.

Returnees from last year's top 10 finishers here are Taber, Astleford, Tim Bateman, Bob Reynolds, Spangler, Lou Roper, John McCune and Jim Shade.

Reynolds, Spangler and Roper are all from Lincoln. Bateman is formerly of Lincoln, but is now working in Phoenix, Ariz. McCune is an Omaha and Shade is from Norfolk and a member of the Big Eight champion Oklahoma State team.

Shade will be using this tourney as a tune-up for the NCAA Championships, set for Colorado Springs later this month.

The only names missing from last year's top 10 are R. B. Lau and Nick West, both of Lincoln. Both are now living outside the state and will not be back this weekend.

Borner, Shade, Frank Rose of Fairbury and Taber represent the top four in last summer's Nebraska State Amateur who are entered.

The golfers will play 18 holes today, using shotgun starts at 8 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.

Witt's Nips Columbus By 6-5

Columbus' American Legion team, which bombed Lincoln First National 13-5 earlier this week, couldn't make it past a second straight Lincoln foe as Ken Witt's Insurance won a 6-5 decision Friday night at Sherman Field.

Witt's scored the decisive run in the bottom of the sixth inning when Ron Shibata tripled home Dan McGovern, who had reached base on an outfield error by Columbus.

Pitcher Dale Nobbman went all the way for Witt's, allowing only four hits, but was constantly in trouble with 13 walks. Dennis Shibata collected three of Witt's seven hits to provide the bulk of the batting support.

In a midget game Don Walla scattered five hits to lead Columbus to a 5-1 victory over Bethany. The losers scored their only run in the bottom of the seventh on an error and RBI single by Mike Raybaugh.

Banks, Williams Lead Cubs Past Reds, 14-8

By Associated Press

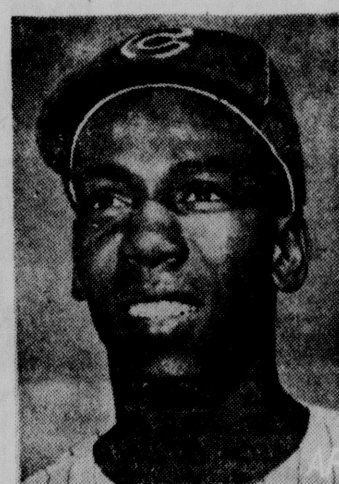

Ernie Banks and Billy Williams each smashed a three-run homer to launch the rampaging Chicago Cubs to a 14-8 victory over the Cincinnati Reds and their seventh straight triumph Friday.

Ken Holtzman scored his sixth straight victory and became the league's first nine-game winner, but he had to be bailed out of a three-run Cincinnati sixth by Phil Regan, who got three outs on three pitches.

Unbeaten Dave McNally pitched a four-hitter and notched his eighth victory as the Baltimore Orioles continued their blistering pace with a 5-1 decision over the Seattle Pilots.

Frank Robinson and Paul Blair each drove in a pair of runs as the Orioles rapped out 10 hits and won for the 18th time in their last 22 games.

Stan Bahnsen, struggling to recapture the form that made him the American League's Rookie of the Year in 1968, buried the New York Yankees past the Chicago White Sox 3-2 and singled in the winning run in the fifth inning.

ERNE BANKS

It was only the second victory in 10 decisions for the righthander, who won 17 games a year ago. He limited the White Sox to five hits, walked two and struck out four.

Dalton Jones slammed a two-run homer in the 11th inning, giving the Boston Red Sox a 4-2 victory over the Kansas City Royals.

Tony Horton drove home four runs with his ninth and 10th home runs and Ken Harrelson hit a two-run homer powering the Cleveland Indians to a 8-3 victory over the California Angels.

Tim McCarver, who set up the tying run with a hit in the sixth inning, singled in the winning run in the seventh and the St. Louis Cardinals tripped Houston 6-3.

Hank Aaron's 14th homer of the season started the Atlanta Braves to a 3-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates Friday night behind the pitching of Phil Niekro.

Bert Campaneris ripped three hits and scored three times and rookie Gene Tenace hit his first major league homer for the decisive run as the Oakland A's downed the Detroit Tigers 5-3.

Barry Moore and Darold Knowles combined for a four-hitter and Frank Howard scored the only run on a double play grounder in the sixth inning as the Washington Senators trounced the Minnesota Twins 1-0.

In the National League late Friday night, Montreal was at Los Angeles, New York at San Diego and Philadelphia at San Francisco.

Royal Variety, Foolishness Capture Big Races At Ak-Sar-Ben

Omaha — Royal Variety and Foolishness won the $5000 seventh and eighth races, respectively, paying winning prices of $21.20 and $8.40 before 9,180 fans at Ak-Sar-Ben Race Track Friday.

Royal Variety's winning return was the largest price on the boards all day and was just ahead of the $20.20 that Jack Host paid to win the fourth race. Third best price of the day was $18.20 by Ku Kim in taking the honors in the third race.

The daily double was valued at $49.80 as Magic Missile won the first race and Trapped the second to account for a 1-4 combination.

Donald MacBeth was the only jockey to ride more than one winner as he booted home three victors — Ku Kim, Triple Sun in the fifth and Foolishness.

Eagle Stock Car Wins Get Tougher, McCain Says

Lincoln super-modified driver Roy McCain, who stands sixth in the point standings, figures it's getting tougher and tougher to win at Eagle Raceways every Sunday night.

"With everybody going harder and faster this year — it's just more difficult to win at Eagle Raceway," McCain believes.

The driver and half owner of car No. 75 says the engines are all better and everyone's getting more RPM's than previously.

With all this horsepower he's now experimenting on ways to get the rubber to the ground better. With T. O. Haas' sponsoring the plan he has been working on various ideas. He's developed a tire that is half snow tire and half passenger tire.

"I think this may be the key to some wins," he said.

McCain owns the car along with the Merten Brothers, Jim and Arnie. Both are mechanics who also operate a service station. They are the car's sponsors and pit crew. "They take care of the car, but I check all the nuts and bolts to make sure she's going to stick together."

Theirs was the first orange color car to hit the circuit eight years ago, now there's so many they're thinking about another color for next season out.

This is their third car, but they have all had the same number. This one is a 327 fuel-injected Chevy.

Racer Joe Saldana had the car for five years and McCain has had it now for three years.

McCain, whose home is in Alabama, came to Lincoln 15 years ago and was stationed here with the Air Force. His wife, Violet, is from Wyoming. They are the parents of two small boys.

He races only at Eagle, however, he previously raced at Beatrice where he won the championships for two years. Last year he was fourth in the point system at Eagle.

"Since we have had our family the boss says no out of town trips with the car," McCain explains.

After being seriously injured in 1966 at the state fair races and after his former racing partner, Guy Hollamon, had a serious accident, he retired for two months. He said he just couldn't stay away from racing.

"I'm the oldest driver in the circuit who doesn't get paid for it," he says. "I sign my checks over to help pay for the car."

He says the car's condition is 75% to 100% better than last year. "We've changed the frame and torsion bars," he points out. "In fact it was completely torn down and started anew. You know just three weeks before the season's opening the car lay on the garage floor all in parts."

Point standings:

Youngsters Get Chance With Pros

A large number of the top touring golf pros in the world have agreed to participate in this summer's Proxy-Pro Junior Golf Tournament being sponsored by the Association of Independent Insurance Agents.

Among the pros who have agreed to participate are

Elder Withdraws From Tourney

Midlothian, Ill. (P) — Lee Elder, one of the few Negroes on the PGA tour, withdrew from the second round of the $130,000 Western Open Golf Tournament Friday.

Elder, who claimed he had been misquoted in a recently published newspaper story, pulled out of the Western before teeing off in the second round, telling officials he was injured. He said he had injured his right knee, and was wearing a rubber brace on it.

He had a first round 76, far back in the field.

Elder was quoted in a story published Thursday in Washington, D.C. as saying he would never again play in Pensacola, Fla., because of racial incidents he has encountered there. He later denied the story.

Youngsters qualifying for the national tournament will play under a pro's name for the first rounds, then will be joined by one of these pros for the final day of play.

Qualifying for Lincoln-area youngsters will be June 23 at Pioneers Park with the state tourney set for Holmes Park July 7-8. The top three from the Nebraska state tournament will qualify for the national meet to be held at the Otter Creek Golf Club in Columbus, Ind., Aug. 1-5.

Any youngster, who has reached his 18th birthday prior to Aug. 31 is eligible. Entry blanks are available from any Independent insurance agent or at 1407 O St.

Spriggs Down Again

Kansas City (P) — The Kansas City Royals exchanged baseball players Friday, sending outfielder George Spriggs who has been hitting only .167, to their farm club in Omaha and calling up Billy Harris from that team.

Food Stamp Plan Puts Pressure On States

Washington (UPI) — The Nixon administration proposed Friday to increase by more than five times the current spending on federal food stamps for the poor and to force states to provide food aid for all their needy or none.

A bill intended to extend food aid into the 421 counties and cities across the country which do not accept it was sent to Congress to fulfill President Nixon's promise in an earlier message to expand the food stamp program sharply.

Under a tough new proposal, any state that wants to continue Agriculture Department food programs — food stamps or direct commodity donations — in any of its counties would be required to assure operation of one of the programs in all its counties or other political subdivisions.

Because each of the 50 states takes part in some sort of federal food aid program, the proposal if enacted would effectively assure that every county in the nation benefits.

43 Youths Complete Law Enforcement Course

Forty-three Nebraska youths wrapped up a week-long crash course in law enforcement procedures Friday at the Nebraska State Patrol training center.

The youths, chosen to attend the annual junior lawmen program by American Legion district commanders from throughout the state, received first-hand instruction in most phases of law enforcement work, and toured city, state, and federal law enforcement headquarters.

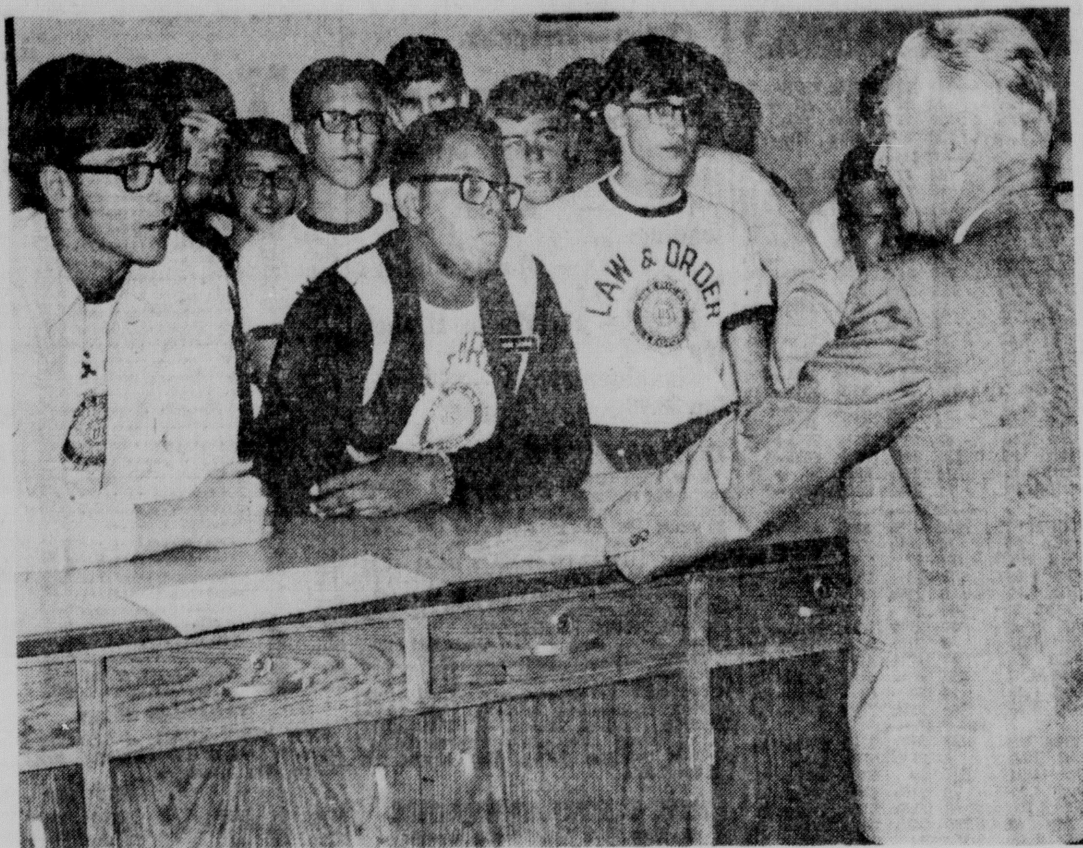

Capt. E. P. Schroeder of the Nebraska State Patrol said the boys took part in a program which was very similar to that given rookie troopers.

Divided into groups, the youth received instruction in radar operation, marksmanship, reflex measurement, first aid, traffic law enforcement, juvenile problems, and several other phases of law enforcement work.

Speakers from various other law enforcement affiliates covered such subjects as drug control, human relations, and Nebraska judicial system procedures.

The program was piloted by the American Legion last year and was the first of its kind in the United States. Kansas, Wisconsin and Florida initiated similar institute this year.

At a Friday luncheon, Eugene Lathan of Omaha was selected as Outstanding Junior Lawman by the other delegates, and certificates of merit were presented to all representatives who successfully completed the course.

Lincoln Youth, 17, Injured Seriously In Cycle Mishap

A 17-year-old Lincoln youth suffered serious injuries in a car-motorcycle accident at 60th and Havelock Ave. late Friday night, according to police.

Thomas J. Miller, the driver of the motorcycle, was listed in "serious but not critical" condition at St. Elizabeth Hospital after the motorcycle he was driving came in collision with a car driven by E. C. Finley, 70, of 4025 J.

Miller's brother, Joe P., 15, a passenger on the motorcycle, was unharmed, police said.

Patrol Capt. Nash Retiring After Nearly 32 Years

Patrol Capt. Harvey F. Nash, one of the Nebraska State Patrol's original members, retired Friday after almost 32 years of service.

Named to succeed Nash as communications division chief is Capt. Del Whitefoot.

Nash, who will observe his 60th birthday Sunday, spent his first eight years with the patrol working traffic.

Assigned to the communications division as its first chief, Nash has since maintained that position.

A 20-year veteran of the force, the recently promoted Whitefoot has been in communications for the past 18 months.

Pohlman To Assume New Post At CTU

Kenneth L. Pohlman has been elected secretary-treasurer of Central Telephone and Utilities Corp. to replace retiring Leonard T. Nelson, who has been with the firm 21 years.

Pohlman has been with the company since 1955 and was formerly controller of the firm.

Julius Ross, former chief accountant, was elected assistant secretary of Central Telephone. He has been with the company since 1938, serving in numerous supervisory capacities.

Former assistant controller Willard M. Rodeck was elected controller of the company. Rodeck joined Central Telephone in 1962.

Kirby Sentenced To Three Years On Two Assaults

Lancaster District Judge Bartlett Boyles Friday sentenced Ronald Eugene Kirby to an additional three years on each of two counts of an inmate assaulting another in connection with a May 10 incident at the penitentiary involving assaults on three officials.

Judge Boyles ordered the terms to run concurrently to each other but consecutive to the present life sentence Kirby is serving for murder from Omaha.

Kirby originally was charged with three counts of assaulting penitentiary officials Steven Ray Snyder, Ed L. Scarborough and Emmett E. Baumann, but the third charge of the assault on Baumann was dismissed in Lancaster County Court before Kirby waived preliminary hearing and was bound over to district court.

Construction Halt Brief; Pickets Are Withdrawn

Pickets re-appeared at several Lincoln construction sites Friday morning and caused a brief halting of construction work which had only resumed Thursday following a two-month citywide strike.

John Miller, president of the Building and Construction Employers Association, said the Omaha-Lincoln painters union posted pickets at two of the major building projects of each Lincoln contractor.

However, Richard Snook, president of the Lincoln Building and Construction Trades Council, said that the pickets were removed later in the day after a meeting between painters union representatives and BCEA officials was arranged for Saturday morning.

Snook also reported that some workers are returning to Lincoln who have been working in other cities since the strike began April 1.

But some former Lincoln workers will not return and have moved permanently to an area "better to their liking," he said.

In addition to the painters, laborers and teamsters unions have yet to sign new three-year wage and conditions contracts with the BCEA.

Sidney Girl, 12, Named Sandoz Essay Winner

A 12-year-old girl from Sidney, Julie Edwards, was named the winner of the 5th annual Mari Sandoz essay contest sponsored by Nebraskaland magazine.

Miss Edwards is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. James W. Edwards of Sidney. She will receive the award on June 19 during Nebraskaland Days at North Platte.

Miss Edwards was selected the winner from more than 600 entries who wrote on the subject "Nebraskaland Trails to Adventure."

In Lote Trading

New York — The already wobbly stock market was hit Friday with developments which sent it slumping in late trading.

These influences were: —Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York initiated an increase in the broker loan rate to 8 1/2% from 7 1/2%. Some other banks followed. —Attorney General Mitchell said the government will take a harder attitude toward mergers in enforcement of antitrust laws.

The market had been cautious all week while awaiting results of the meeting between President Nixon and South Vietnam President Thieu Sunday.

Hog Prices Are Strong To Higher

Omaha — Butcher hogs were strong to 50 cents higher on the Omaha market Friday and some sales were as much as 75 cents higher.

Receipts were moderate. Fed cattle receipts were too light to test prices. The bulk of the run was made up of cows which sold at fully steady prices.

Fat lambs were nominally steady. Around one load of butcher hogs weighing 210 to 230 pounds sold for $26.00.

The best prices recorded for beef cows were $23.00.

President Leaves For Midway Today

San Clemente, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon whirled through final meetings Friday before flying the Pacific to Midway Island and a summit conference on war and peace with Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu.

The President takes off Saturday morning on his newly refurbished jet with an overnight stop in Hawaii before meeting with Thieu Sunday.

Nixon spent a substantial part of the day conferring with his top consultant on foreign policy and national security, Henry A. Kissinger.

Unquestionably, a point of discussion between Nixon and Kissinger centered on statements Thursday by Secretary of State William P. Rogers, who also will be making the trip to Midway as part of the American team.

A peace settlement hinges in large degree on a political settlement between South Vietnam and the National Liberation Front of the Viet Cong. Rogers hinted that one step toward achieving this would be creation of a coalition commission to supervise a national election.

This would give some measure of recognition to the Viet Cong without going completely counter to Thieu's insistence that he would never agree to a coalition government. The question of troop levels and an eventual start on withdrawal of U.S. forces is a topic that White House officials concede will be covered at Midway.

VEST RESIGNS STATE AIR POST

Gov. Norbert Tiemann Friday announced the resignation of C. Howard Vest as director of the State Aeronautics Department, effective Aug. 1.

Vest, director of the department since Tiemann became governor in 1967, announced his decision in a letter to the governor.

Tiemann said Vest expressed a desire "to return to his first love—private law practice."

Vest was the pilot of a $215,000 state plane when it crashed near North Platte in 1967. Injured in the mishap, he later recovered and resumed his duties as aeronautics director.

Tiemann also announced the resignation of Gordon Pentz of Beatrice from the State Educational Television Commission.

Legislature Debates Change In Personal Property Tax

The legislature Friday debated for nearly an hour the proposed constitutional amendment to permit it to classify and exempt personal property from taxation, then adjourned without acting on it.

Two other constitutional

Legislature effective June 16. Hanna will succeed Sen. Elvin Adamson of Valentine, who is resigning effective that date to accept a position with the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Hanna, 56, a former member of the state highway commission, is a Republican and was an alternate delegate to the 1964 national convention supporting Sen. Barry Goldwater.

Hanna, 56, a rancher, is the son of the late Don Hanna Sr., who served in the legislature from 1941 to 1949.

amendment proposals were given first round approval with a minimum of debate.

One of the amendments would eliminate the requirement that bills be read completely through when a final vote on them is taken. The other amendment would change the date for convening the legislature from the first Tuesday in January to the first Tuesday in December following the general election.

A proposed constitutional amendment to allow the unicameral to classify and exempt personal property was defeated by the voters during the last general election.

But the chief sponsor of the amendment this time, State Sen. Willard Waldo of De Witt, said the people were "voting against their own convictions" when they defeated the amendment last November.

"I'm sure that before the people didn't realize what they were voting on and were voting against their own convictions," he said.

State Sen. Henry F. Pedersen Jr. of Omaha said, however, that the legislature should not try to "force another vote down the throats of the people."

Youth Corps Program To Be Cut A Third

New York Times Service

Washington — The Labor Department has ordered a one-third reduction in enrollment of the Neighborhood Youth Corps' year-round out-of-school program and a complete halt in hiring youths 18 or older for that program.

The $129 million authorization for the 1969 fiscal year provided training opportunities for 46,100 persons; under the cutback this will be slashed by approximately 15,000.

Labor Department officials say this is part of an effort to get young school dropouts to return to school. The purpose of the Youth Corps, they say, is to keep youngsters in schools or persuade them to return when they drop out.

Those over age 18, who will no longer be accepted, will be encouraged to enter other Labor Department training programs, particularly the Job Opportunities in the Business Sector program (JOBS), sponsored by the National Alliance of Businessmen. There, they will be trained for jobs in industry.

Education Board Members Accused Of Secret Meetings

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

State Board of Education member Robert Simmons Jr. of Scottsbluff Friday accused other board members of holding secret meetings and demanded to know whether they are going to continue in the future.

Simmons declared near the end of a previously uneventful board meeting here that secret discussion must have preceded the swift decision to fire former Education Commissioner Dr. Floyd Miller.

The practice evidently will continue, Simmons said, charging that a meeting must have been held "more than month ago" when it was decided that Cecil Stanley would be named to replace Miller.

Stanley, appointed during a special meeting Thursday, was the former assistant commissioner in charge of vocational education.

"The reasons why he (Stanley) was selected over someone else in the department should be disclosed," Simmons contended.

He declared that members who have participated in "secret meetings should be condemned for it and should disclose the subjects discussed."

Simmons also denounced the action of attorney M. J. Bruckner, retained by the board, for advising some board members not to disclose charges against Miller until after the firing was accomplished "if he gave such advice."

"Bruckner was not hired to represent individual board members in their individual projects," Simmons emphasized. He was hired as an impartial adviser to the board on official matters, it was pointed out.

Board members John Lunday of Omaha, Mrs. Deborah Shepherd of Lexington and chairman Allan Burkhardt of Norfolk stated that they had not attended nor knew of any secret meetings.

Frank Landis of Lincoln, who acted to end the discussion by calling for adjournment, said he had never attended any secret meetings. He added that he felt any meeting of a majority or more of the board members in private would be a violation of the state statutes.

In action Friday the State Board returned the authority for approving out-of-state travel of Department of Education staff members to the commissioner of education. Earlier this year that authority had been taken away from Miller during the series of conflicts between the former commissioner and the five-member majority of the board.

Board members also approved a four-week vacation with pay for Miller that he had earned under department regulations prior to his dismissal.

Glen Strain, deputy director of vocational education, was named by the board to succeed Stanley "on an interim basis." However, Burkhardt said after the meeting that Stanley's appointment was not an interim arrangement. No other person will be sought for the job of commissioner, he said.

In approving the state accreditation committee report, the board reclassified Kimball County High School with a AA rating for the 1969-70 school year and reclassified McPherson County High School at Tryon to approved non-accredited because of unsatisfactory conditions.

Beaver Valley, Eustis,

Niobrara, Chadron Assumption Academy and Nebraska City Lourdes Central High were placed on "notice," a warning that the schools had more than the permitted number of violations.

Board members unanimously approved the state plan for vocational education which had been presented at a public hearing Thursday.

Court: Widow Not Entitled To Benefits

By United Press International

The Nebraska Supreme Court ruled Friday that the widow of former State Veterans Affairs Director Leo J. Beck is not entitled to Workmen's Compensation benefits as a result of Beck's death.

Mrs. Beck had contended Beck's death was the result of strain experienced on the job and that she was entitled to compensation benefits.

Beck died in 1967. The court said the death appeared partially to be the result of the strain caused on Beck by introduction of a bill to transfer some land belonging to the Nebraska Soldiers and Sailors Home in Grand Island to the city of Grand Island.

Beck died less than two weeks after talking with the governor about the bill and agreeing to go along with the bill.

The court said the strain on Beck, however, "was no greater than that of nonemployment life."

Beck had suffered a previous heart attack in 1958 and the court said that this prior heart disease also was a contributing factor.

Its ruling overturned a Lancaster County District Court ruling which had granted Mrs. Beck compensation benefits.

In other rulings Friday, the court:

—Upheld the speeding conviction in Gage County of Max E. Snyder. Snyder had contended that the radar equipment which gauged the speed of his car had not been sufficiently tested for accuracy, but the court disagreed.

—Overturned a Fillmore County District Court ruling ordering a new trial in a damages suit brought by the estate of Bessie Drucker against a nursing home operated by Goscar, Inc. The original suit was decided in favor of the nursing home and the court reinstated that finding.

—Upheld a Hall County District Court ruling in a suit over a lease involving Nick Jamison and John Poulos and four other defendants.

—Reversed a Keith County District Court ruling ordering the Department of Roads to pay $250 per acre for land it was acquiring in Keith County from Dale Anderson and eight other persons. The Department of Roads asked for and received a new trial on the grounds that the value of adjoining land showed the land it was acquiring was not worth the price.

—Upheld a Lincoln County District Court ruling in another suit involving Anderson and the others and the Department of Roads.
